Towering far above her neighbors,
Shop and mart and hall,
Stands the home of student-labors,
Noblest of them all!

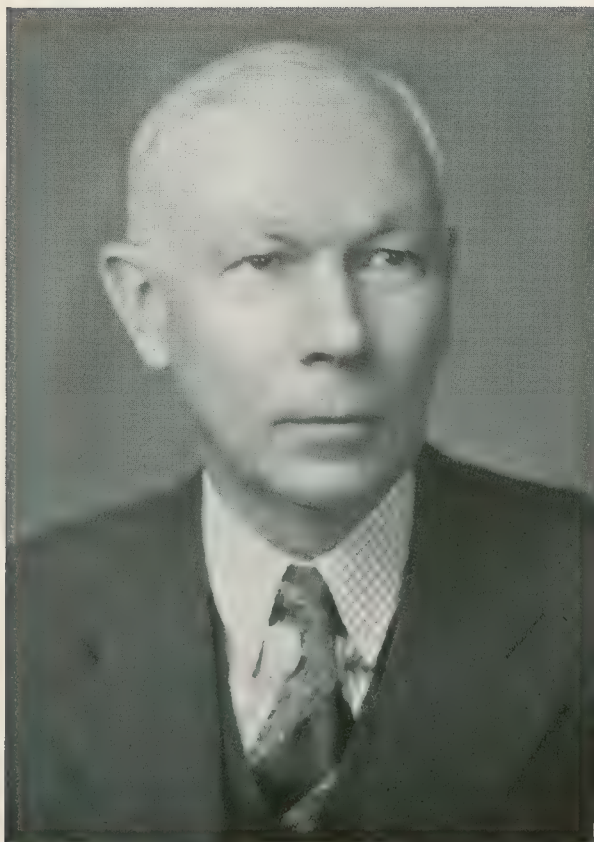

At each meeting, give her greeting,
Raise the proud salute!
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, Pratt Institute!

In our hearts her precepts linger,
Her example gleams,
Showing with unerring finger
Guerdon of our Dreams.

At our meeting, for our greeting,
Bring her noble fruit,
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, Pratt Institute!

Round the world the chain extending,
Each to the other binds,
All her honored name defending,
Hearts and hands and minds.

At our meeting, give her greeting,
Raise the proud salute!
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, Pratt Institute!

SAMUEL SUMNER EDMANDS

DEDICATION

To Samuel Sumner Edmands who, for twenty-six years DIRECTOR OF THE SCHOOL OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY, has been a leader in progressive movements in modern engineering education, devoting his professional career to advancing in extent and importance the technical courses in Pratt Institute. The Prattonia 1936 is dedicated by all the students in every school.

F O R E W O R D

As each of us receive a copy of the 1936 Prattonia, we are forcibly reminded of friendships with students and faculty; the excitement of a close game; the satisfaction of passing a difficult exam; the thrill of a class dance; the urge of creative activity.

It is the purpose of this book to put these memories into concrete form, to try to express in pictures and print some of the emotions we feel as we leave our alma mater.

To the student body of Pratt Institute do we submit this book. Its purpose being to preserve the memories so dear to us all. We hope that in after years, when these memories begin to dim, you may turn to this book and find in it a record of some of the happiest moments of your life.

PRATTONIA BOARD

The Prattonia of 1936 could never have been a reality without the co-operation and support of students other than the board itself. We the Prattonia Board are deeply indebted to the following members of the student body for their loyalty, and many weeks of hard labor all so willingly given. We are grateful to Vivian Rosenthal for her splendid cover design. To Adelaide Spreen and Anne Boetzel, for their untiring efforts in handling the clerical work of the photography department, and willingness to help wherever it was needed. Richard Schmidt has made a great contribution in his cartoons throughout the publication. To Doris Heydenreich we express our appreciation of her fine art work. And to William Coiro we also express our thanks for his line caricatures.

To the faculty advisers, Mr. Petersen, Mr. Millard, Miss Duntz, Mr. McKenzie, and Mr. Stevens, may your sound advice always pilot Prattonia as successfully in the future as it has in the past.

To the Prattonia class representatives through whose salesmanship we owe the success of our book financially, we express our sincere thanks.

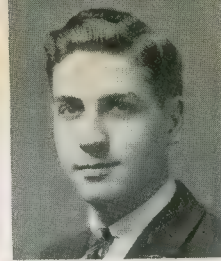

For the willingness to be of service whenever difficult problems arise, and the interest shown in in an effort to make Prattonia everything it should be, we also give our thanks to the following concerns:

FACULTY

SCHOOL OF FINE AND

The program of the School of Fine and Applied Arts has two basic objectives which are contributing definitely to its increasing success.

The first objective calls for a continuously changing program that synchronizes with the best contemporary professional practices. This is possible of realization only when the faculty and student body work together in terms of the business and art activities prevalent in the Commercial and Industrial worlds.

This presupposes a corps of instructors who themselves are leaders in the various professional art fields. We have such a faculty. The students in turn must of necessity adopt an attitude of seriousness and application which, under the direction of this faculty, develops a wholesome professional atmosphere.

At the conclusion of such a three year program of study the graduate finds he is in the happy situation of having no gap to bridge between his art training and the workaday world.

The second objective, even more difficult to realize than the first, yet predicated upon it, maintains that the educational intent of the Art School is fully realized only when all its graduates are employed in the professional art field for which they are trained. A compilation of statistics based upon questionnaire data received from the 1935 three-year graduates who totalled 175, convincingly presents the degree to which we are realizing this second objective. These questionnaires were distributed six months after graduation. 94% were employed, 92% of whom were in the art work for which they specialized. The average weekly income of this group was 10% higher than that of the 1934 graduates at the same comparable time. We intend to maintain this desirable trend.

The three qualifications for graduation, stated in the order of their relative significance, present the students' responsibilities as contributors to the complete satisfaction of these two basic objectives. These qualifications are—First, that the graduate is a lady or a gentleman; Second, that the graduate has acquired the business adaptation; Third that the graduate had reached at least a minimum professional level in his art major.

ADVERTISING DESIGN III

In retrospect of the past three years, our class history might be comparable in metaphor to a rapidly growing child. Born in a strange place, he immediately sets about acquainting himself with the members of his body. Upon examining his hands he finds them very adaptable for graphic expression. Time and experience finally enables him, in spite of many falls, to attain a balance and movement which forms a splendid foundation for his future trials.

In learning to walk, curiosity stimulates both ambition and understanding and we find in a year's growth a child of remarkable talent and ingenuity. In spite of the aches and bumps of boyhood, many interested observers predict that he will pull through and be even healthier than before. Growing strong from such stable encouragement, we plainly note an energetic earnestness for practical work.

In the third year, maturity brings forth the realization that the professional world awaits his coming and that by only serious work will he attain his goal. In this last stretch he benefits by being a "guinea pig" in an extensive experiment which, although overloading him with work at times, attains its purpose by spanning the gap between his school training and his profession.

In speaking as individuals, we can truthfully say that we will never regret our venture here and that the unrepayable debt we owe to our supervisor, Mr. Longyear, for all his help, encouragement, and contacts are appreciated to the fullest extent. May we live each day as though it were our last. May we live each day as though it were to last forever.

ANDERSON, MARTHA "Marthy"
31-40 42nd St., Long Island City, N. Y.
Senior Class Secretary

Here's the answer to the cynics who say girls can't draw. Not only is Martha a positive Mrs. Rembrandt, but she whistles, talks, and tells little Audrey stories. And still we love her!

APPEL, IRVING T. "Irv"
1412 Dixwell Ave., Hamden, Conn.
Glee Club; Artsmen Bowling Team '35.

The best disposition in the class. When not inventing some ingenious mechanical device (à la Rube Goldberg) or feeding starving Pratt Students at Edwards (Adv.) he spends his time dunking negatives.

ADVERTISING 1936

BATZ, RUTH "Batzy"
The Old House, Bellvale, N. Y.
Glee Club.

Ruth is tops with the class. Her ability in dramatic design will be remembered as well as her merry chuckle and her appetizing water colors. Pratt's Jenny Lind.

BELGER, ROY M. "Roy"
66 Elliot Ave., Yonkers, N. Y.
Artsmen Bowling Team '35; Breakfast Club.

Roy is one half of the inseparable team of Hartley and Co. Unflatteringly he designs racing cars in Water Color, Life and Layout. The long hours spent commuting in the subways have not dimmed his happy grin nor his livid socks.

BROWNELL, ELEANOR "Ellie"
Savannah, Georgia.
Women's Club Rep. '35, '36.

This little lady, and we mean LADY, from the South has added much to the class in the line of culture, social education and artistic ability.

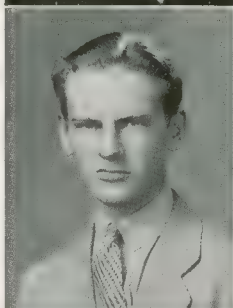

CAPOSSELA, HAROLD W. "Cap"
158 Manhattan Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.
Artsmen Basketball '34, '35; Artsmen Soccer '34, '35; Vice-President '35.

Leaving behind a trail of chaos and revolution in Europe, Cap re-entered Pratt. His hearty guffaw and fluent wit made the class as quiet as a race riot—after breakfast.

COHEN, ABRAHAM H. "Al"
370 So. 2nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Varsity Basketball '34, '35, '36; Class Treasurer '34; Prattonia Rep. '35.

Unpaid but not unappreciated entertainer of the class, Al's designing genius is the only serious rival of his singing ability. Adv. 111's stellar athlete and a good egg, to boot.

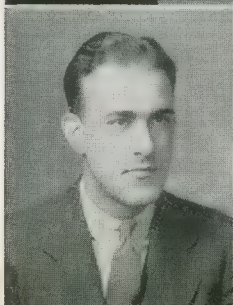

DUSPIVA, CYRENIA J.
260 Graham Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Hockey '34; Basketball '35; Volleyball, '35, '36.

If we tried to mention all of Cyrenia's good qualities it would take volumes. 'Tis enough to say that she is one of the best artists and most beloved persons in the class.

FEINSTEIN, STANLEY "Fine"
2146 78th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The hermit of Ryerson Street. Both times he laid down his book and came to class he displayed a keen wit, outstanding drawing ability and a dandy "zum-zum" tenor voice.

FISCHER, ELLIOTT H. "Eli"
53 Oak St., Lynbrook, N. Y.
Senior Class Treasurer.

His right hand wields a wicked air-brush—his left strews petals before the shrine of Eddie Duchin. Above is a cheery smile and the broadest pair of shoulders in captivity.

DESIGN III

1936

LEDERER, LEE D.

141 East 21st St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Volley-ball '34, '35.

Lee has added the modern touch of red to the Oriental custom of long fingernails. Lee is one of the really hard workers of the class.

LINDEWURTH, HELEN G. "Lynn"

416 Ocean Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Secretary '34; Riding Club '35; Volley-ball '34, '35.

Sugar and spice and all things nice, that's what Helen's made of. Lynn contributes much to the class with her talent and charming sense of humor.

GREENBERGER, VIVIEN "Vivie"

122 Caroling St., Derby, Conn.

Vivien's pleasant chatter and seductive giggle has been greatly missed since she has deserted us for hospital work in the form of anatomical drawings and an appendix operation. She has recovered from the last, we are glad to say.

HARTLEY, DONALD L. "Don"

1040 Connecticut Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.

Artsmen Bowling '35, '36; Prattonia Rep. '36.

Don is the other Siamese twin (see Belger). The patriarch of the Breakfast Club, he's the final authority of the hot-stove league. His overwhelming popularity has of late been slightly on the downfall due to his persistent efforts to abstract money from the class.

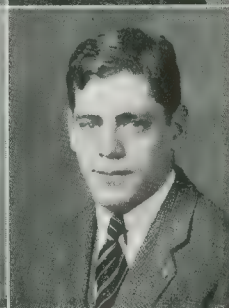

HEYDENREICH, DORIS "Dunk"

60 Maplewood Ave., Maplewood, N. J.

Women's Club Rep. '34; Girls' Hockey '34, '35; Checker-in'er '36.

We love you, we love you, we do; the words sound silly we will agree—but that's the way we feel about you. Dunk's three great loves are C. P., Wagner and abstract designs.

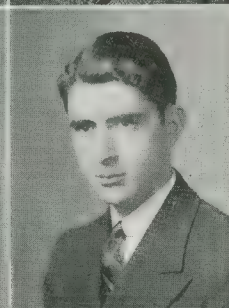

HOFFMAN, EDWARD C. "Ed"

President par excellence. Whenever there is anything to be done just call on Ed.

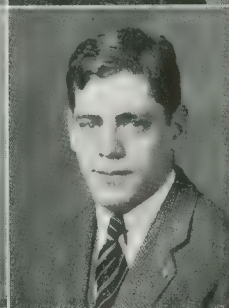

HORTENS, WALTER H.

4752 43rd St., Long Island City, N. Y.

Fencing '36.

Walter specializes in layouts and mustaches, but if you should want something else he will gladly oblige. Walter is a most versatile young man.

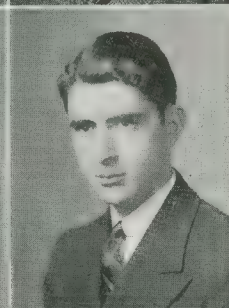

JACK, DAVID E. "Dave"

333 Hawthorne Ave., Yonkers, N. Y.

Mgr. Artsmen Basketball Club '36.

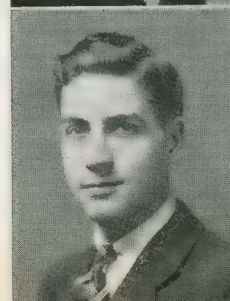

A veritable diamond in the rough, Dave has won many friends during his stay at Pratt as well as a reputation of being a fine artist.

KALISH HENRY "Kal"

2855 Grand Concourse, Bronx, N. Y.

One of our more serious students. Henry's earnest attitude towards his work will win him the place in the art world which he deserves. Though Henry deserted us for Night School in February he has not been forgotten by his classmates.

KUHNS, PETER M. "Peter"

170 East 35th St., Erie, Penn.

Miss Kuhns is the Joan of Arc of Adv. III. Her artistic merit is coupled with a really fine appreciation of music and literature. She spends long golden hours happily absorbing the wisdom of Mr. Ajootian.

LONDON, MIRIAM

"Mimi"

866 East 8th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Paletteer Rep. '35.

Mimi has been misnamed. She should be called "Giggles." Her cheerful laughter has echoed through the halls of Pratt for three years and has done much to make our school years more pleasant.

MEYERJACK, ARTHUR

"Artie"

41-26 Gleane St., Elmhurst, L. I., N. Y.

Jack of all trades, as well as master, Artie is an affable soul with an even disposition and high ambitions. Grand Master of the Box-Lunch Club.

ADVERTISING 1936

MONROE, MARION

"M"

27 Southard Ave., Rockville Centre, N. Y.

Sweet and demure—Marion has been with us only a year but in that short time she has won our esteem and admiration. Marion's ability to make friends quickly and hold them should be a great asset to her.

PAULEN, HERBERT A.

"Schmaltz"

157-06 46th Ave., Flushing, N. Y.

Artsmen Rep. '34; Assistant Art Editor Prattonia.

Herbie is one of our most talented young men. We certainly do miss his side-burns and smock now that he has deserted us for Park Ave.

MOTT, EVELYN L.

"Lynn"

782 Quincy St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Hockey '34, '35; Basketball '34, '35.

Lynn goes about doing her work and making friends in a very ladylike, unassuming manner. She is quiet, but not shy and we know that this trait will be a great asset to her.

RAO, JOSEPH

"Guisseppe"

565 85th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mgr. Artsmen Baseball '35; Boxing Team '35.

His dynamic Latin personality pervades the atmosphere of the entire class, while his intense raucous enthusiasm is known as well in gym as in Display class.

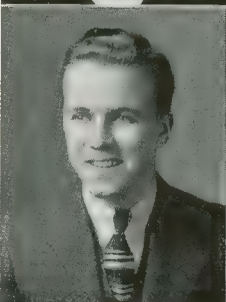

NAIDEN, ANTHONY W.

"Tony"

1496 Pembroke St., Bridgeport, Conn.

Artsmen President; Artsmen Rep. '34; Artsmen Basketball '35, '36; Artsmen Baseball '35.

Tony combines the rare quality of being the ace-high with both teachers and students. He is one of our best artists and a star technician on both the fourth and fifth floors.

RESTALL, JOHN E.

"Jerry"

53 Caroline Ave., Yonkers, N. Y.

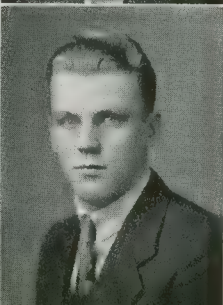

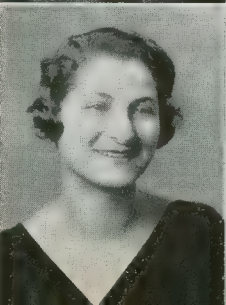

Basketball J. V. '34; Artsmen Basketball '35, '36; Artsmen Quartet.

"Tenor melody, baritone, bass—." For three years Jack has successfully pursued the arts. His pursuit of a tenor has not been as fruitful. Jack is a dandy letterer, but what was it that Washington chopped down.

PASS, GOLDIE

1846 68th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Good natured, hard working and very talented. Naturally with these qualities Goldie is one of our favorites. She and Mimi London are inseparable.

RUESCH, BLAKE

45 Grant Ave., White Plains, N. Y.

Boxing Team '36; Vice-President '34.

His ability to sling hash is rivalled only by his unfailing industry. The blond hair and winning smile work some nasty havoc with the fair sex.

VITT, JEAN

"Ghost"

179 Utter Ave.,
W. N. B., Staten Island, N. Y.

Secretary-Treasurer '35; Fencing '35.

For the past year Jean has been so "layout" conscious that we hardly ever see her. However, underneath she is the same old Jeannie that we all admire. As a creative artist Jean is the tops.

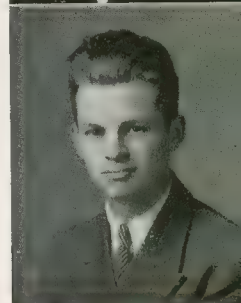

WINTON, FRANKLIN W.

"Zip"

27 Frederick St., Stratford, Conn.

Quiet and efficient, without any fuss or ado, Frank has made friends with all the class and become one of the very best students.

SWEET, ELSIE

"Sweetie"

674 Crescent Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

Women's Club Rep '34; Capt. Hockey Team '34; Basketball '34, '35; Paletteer Rep. '36; Fencing '34.

Elsie is all that her name implies. She is a good artist and well beloved by the whole class.

SADOWSKY, VICTOR H.

"Vic"

84-04 Jamaica Ave., Woodhaven, N. Y.

Artsmen Basketball '35; Boxing Team '35.

Just one of those happy-go-lucky people who, with apparently no effort at all walk into class each day with their work all completed; and we might add, beautifully executed.

TEDESCO, THOMAS

"Teddy"

332 Keystone Ave., Peckville, Penn.

Class Vice-President '36.

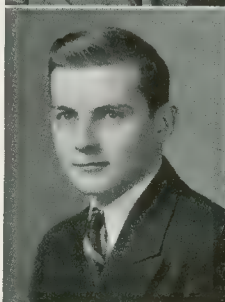

Quiet, gentlemanly, conscientious, Ted stands out as a shining example of the non-temperamental artist. There's brains behind them brown eyes, pardner.

THORN, EMMA

"Em"

901 80th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

At last we have found the "rose among the thorns." Emma's cheerfulness, loquacity, and artistic ability should carry her far.

SCHMIDT, RICHARD F.

"Deacon"

44 109th St., Troy, N. Y.

Walt Disney will have to look to his laurels when Dick gets started. Some day people will be saying, "You know, Schmidt, the famous cartoonist."

VAN AUSDALL, DAVID C.

"Wolf"

95 Cumberland Ave., Wethersfield, Conn.

Class President '34; Artsmen Bowling Team '35, '36.

A tall, thin Dutchman, with a smile on one side of his face, who takes himself and his work seriously. We are sure that the outside world will also take his work seriously.

SPINGOLA, CARMEN R.

"Milquetoast"

354 Chauncy St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Volley-ball Team '34, '35.

Once again we realize the truth of the old saying, "All good things come in small packages." Carmen's vivacity and creative genius is sure to win her a prominent place in the art world.

ARCHITECTURE III

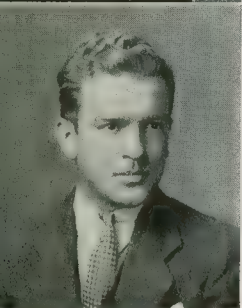

Three years ago this class first became acquainted with itself and with the school. In the years that have followed, its members have come to respect the school, the faculty, and each other. Under the expert guidance of our instructors, our work has improved to a point where it at least approaches the professional standard. We have participated in most of the many forms of school activities, and we feel that we have been well repaid.

Now we stand at one of the many crossroads which we shall have to face. Here it is that we must part, some to go one way and some another, but all with the same high purpose, confidence, and hope. Some will seek employment in that profession for which they have been so well instructed. Some will continue their studies in an attempt to become more proficient in their work.

We leave Pratt with a strange combination of sadness and joy; sadness with the thought that we must leave familiar faces, haunts, and habits, joyfulness with which youth always welcomes change and new opportunities. While it is true that our roads part here we all hope that they may meet again somewhere along their rambling and divergent courses.

BENEVICH, FRANK "Ben"
142 Fillmore St., New Haven, Conn.
Bowling '34, '35, '36; Orchestra, '34, '35.

CHAMBERLAIN, EDWIN D. "Eddie"
Chester, N. Y.
Soccer '34, '35, '36; Baseball '34, '35; Swimming, Bowling '34, '36; Prattonia Rep. '34; Class President '36.
"Eddie" our hard working president who is also his own movie producer.

DE PALMA, JOHN "Honest John"
116 Roosevelt St., Roselle Park, N. J.
Soccer '35, '36; Swimming Mgr. '36; Class Treasurer '36; Prattonia Rep. '36.
A little man in a big way. He'll take any bet that's a good one.

HUNTER, WILLIAM C. "Willie"
82 Church St., Montclair, N. J.
Soccer '34, '35, '36; Swimming, Basketball '34; Vice-President '34.
Willie—no dust will ever collect on his work.

EDMONDS, GRANT T. "Grant"
873 East 9th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Soccer '35; Educational Committee, '36.
He eats well, sleeps well, and if he works hard he will go a long way.

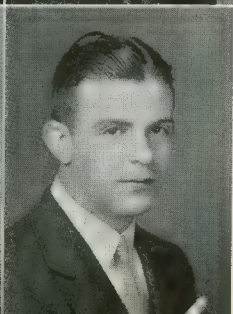

LEEMAN, HENDRIK "Hank"
Bayport, Long Island, N. Y.
Swimming '35, '36; Basketball '36; Soccer '35.
The Architect who still clings to European traditions.

FOUS, GEORGE A. "Georgie"
25-45 44th St., Astoria, L. I.
A. A.—Athletic Mgr.; Bowling '36; Soccer '34, '35; Basketball, Baseball '34, '35, '36.
Action speaks louder than words.

McLEAN, DONALD K. "Mac"
167 4th St., Providence, R. I.
Basketball '34, '35, '36; President Architects '36.
Our own Scottish barytone.

HOPP, HERBERT K. "Buster"
133 Lee Ave., Yonkers, N. Y.
Class President '34; Chairman Educational Committee '36; Soccer '34.
The chairman of the Educational Committee who leads our speakers astray.

McKEE, JAMES H. "Jimmy"
434 West 18th St., New York, N. Y.
The fellow who has a wealth of Architectural reference at his finger tips.

TURE III

WAREHAM, ARTHUR "Art"

977 St. Johns Pl., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Treasurer '34, '35; Baseball '34, '35, '36; Architects Treasurer '36.

Architecture is a long long trail to Arthur, but the Ramapo trail suits him better.

MOGER, HENRY H., JR. "Henry"

High St., R. F. D. 2, Mt. Kisco, N. Y.

A conscientious worker whose consistent high placing has been a habit.

SCOTT, WALTER T. "Scotty"

135 Atkins St., Meriden, Conn.

Baseball '35, '36.

Quiet please! Fun is fun, but I came here for an education.

PAWLUK, THOMAS W. "Tom"

69-07 13th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The fellow who can walk a wash with the finesse of a master.

SHEFFIELD, JEROME J. "Jerry"

142 Harrison Ave., Baldwin, L. I.

Bowling, Soccer, Architect Secretary '36; Basketball '34, '36.

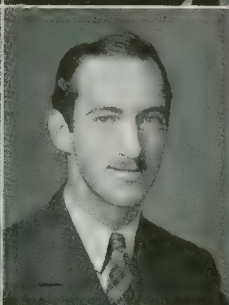

A devoted supporter of the Long Island R. R. with a girl at every stop.

RIGGIO, JOSEPH S. "Joey"

314 East 49th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Bowling '35, '36; Swimming '36.

His magnetic personality fills the room to overflowing.

SCHULTZ, HENRY A., JR. "Honey"

80 Wall St., Long Branch, N. J.

Bowling '35, '36.

By the time that sweater fits him he will be an Architect.

ROMANO, FERDINAND R. "Ferdie"

ARCHITECTURAL CONSTRUCTION II

We approach the end of the second year with the feeling that we have had the most complete course in architectural construction ever offered at Pratt Institute. The most complete because, in addition to the splendid structural course so ably presented by Mr. Price and the Construction periods by our good friend Mr. Munson, three hours of design have been added. We feel that Mr. Boulware has helped us tremendously in the principles of architectural design and we appreciate his keen interest in our endeavors.

Our hats are off also to Mr. Green, who has successfully guided us through detailing, Mr. Bond and his fine discourses on Mechanical equipment, and last but mighty far from least, our supervisor, Mr. Pope, who has worked so hard in making ours one of the finest courses in Architecture in the country.

Although the personnel of our group may be varied—everything from an English Ambassador to some very mad musicians—there is an unusual bond of friendship among us all, and we feel certain that it will last many years after we have departed from the school that has brought us together.

ADELMAN, ALVIN D. "Al"
5220 Tilden Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Basketball '35; Baseball '35; Soccer '34, '35.
Early to come and late to go will make for our Alvin plenty of dough.

CAVALLO, C. GEORGE "George"
143-02 94th Ave., Jamaica, N. Y.
Mgr. Soccer '35; Baseball '35; Assistant Athletic Editor Prattonia '36; Treasurer '35.
"Honesty is the best policy as long as it pays dividends." Was there ever a contractor as well dressed as George.

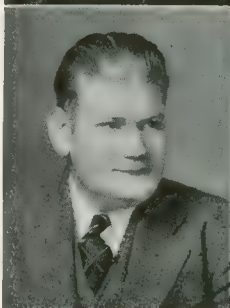

ARCHITECTURAL 1936

CORT, PAUL P. "Paul"
29 Lafayette Pl., Woodmere, L. I.
Swimming '35; Orchestra.
"Intent he seemed, and pondering future things of great weight." If you think you have an idea, Cort has a better one.

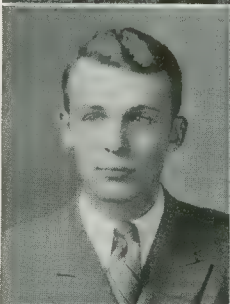

ELLIN, JOHN T. "Jack"
70 Monnolia Ave., Maywood, N. J.
Ass't Mgr. Soccer '35.
"Wisely and slowly, they stumble that run fast." Steak and architecture, what more is there in life?

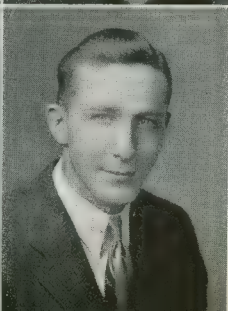

McKAY, ROBERT H. "Bob"
10428 191st St., Hollis, L. I.
Boxing '35.
"Above the vulgar flight of common man." Don't waste fifty cents on Esquire; if you don't know how to dress just see McKay.

FAY, DONALD P. "Don"
91-38 115th St., Richmond Hill, N. Y.
Basketball '34, '35; Soccer '34, '35; Baseball '34; Boxing; Class Treasurer '34.
"Trust not in him that seems a saint." Usually found in the back of the room trying to convert Paul.

MORGAN, LOUIS B. "Lou"
8416 86th Rd., Woodhaven, L. I.
"Care rest lightly on my brow." In twenty years will Lou still be trying to sell Mr. Munson the merits of glass bricks.

LOVELL, DAVID E. "Dave"
348 Vine St., Hartford, Conn.
Championship Soccer; Athletic Editor Prattonia '36.
"Girls, run along, don't bother me." We only regret that Dave's room isn't twice as big.

MORGENTHALER, HENRY J. "Henry"
161 Lenox Rd., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"It's nice to get up in the morning, but it's nicer to lie in bed." His favorite pastime is asking Mr. Bond questions.

FASHION ILLUSTRATION III

In this, our farewell speech to Pratt, we, the unruliest, noisiest, most undisciplined Fashion class ever to graduate, must admit that we have enjoyed ourselves immensely for three years both working and playing. In fact one never knew where our work stopped and our play began. But don't think we didn't combine the two successfully. We have rolled merrily through the three years, and improved as we rolled, we hope.

The first year we made friends very quickly, learned to chatter while we worked (except in Miss Everest's class), became experienced in all usable excuses, all possible cuts, and all easy exits. Don't think we ever used them, no sir! Seriously though, the first months gave us our real foundation without which we could not have soared to the heights which we have now reached.

The second year found us fresh and confident under the heading of Fashion class. That year we began from scratch and spent the following months improving the scratches. How the time sped past while we were busy delving into the mysteries of Fashion. We delighted in New York fashion shows, especially if we could find seats, and we loved to spend our leisure hours strolling along Fifth Avenue.

Then, zowie! we woke up and found ourselves on the home stretch. Half this year has been spent in honest labor, the other half spent in worry amidst such comments as, "My how time flies."

In closing we wish to strike our only serious note in saying farewell to the faculty. They have been patient, sympathetic, and wholly understanding. We are sincerely grateful for the inspiration they have given us. We will endeavor to be worthy of the fine training we have received.

INDUSTRIAL DESIGN III

At the end of our third and last year we are reluctantly forced to realize that an extremely important and interesting portion of our lives is concluded.

Our first thought as we are about to leave our Alma Mater is one of gratitude to the administration for realizing the possibilities of aesthetic engineering and creating a course designed to lay a solid foundation for a practical approach to that rare thing—a basically sound, new profession. With Pratt Institute blazing the trail into the field of preparatory training for Industrial Design, we students in that course have been given an opportunity accessible to only a few. It is for us to realize—and we do realize full well, that we are starting into a new field of professional endeavor better equipped; with a better understanding of the fundamentals involved; with a more inclusive comprehension of the scope of the work; and knowing more facts essential to a businesslike approach, than any who have gone before us.

Opportunity did not knock—it was hewn out of the hard granite face of the business world and handed to us on a golden platter without any palaver, but with the true philanthropy that reminds us again of the founder of the Institute, and the generous policies and ideals upon which the school is built.

It is difficult to realize that our group will exist no longer as a unit, but after turning the corner into Professional Avenue, the traffic of which we are prepared to meet, we will undoubtedly see or hear of one another occasionally. With the conflicting emotions of an irrepressible wish to stay a while longer and the irresistible desire to be “up and doing,” we bid our school, our associates, and our instructors a fond “adieu.”

ALBRECHT DOROTHEA G. C. "Dotty"

102 82nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Our wish for Dotty is that her life will be nicely balanced with a fair proportion of all those things she wants from life—and we believe it will be.

APPLEBAUM, RUTH

"Ruth"

611 82nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Our wandering photographer has the ability, the will, and the energy to find plenty to do—and to do it well.

INDUSTRIAL

1936

COMARA, VICTOR

"Bob"

363 West 34th St., New York, N. Y.

Pratt Play Shop '36.

Quickly changing thoughts racing through an emotionally responsive mind with an almost incomprehensible range of associated ideas.

DUFFY, RUTH M.

"Ruth"

709 2nd St., Fall River, Mass.

With tranquillity and composure—seeing all and saying little—she goes on her unruffled way.

COROFF, LILYAN M.

"Lil"

2911 Barnes Ave., Bronx, N. Y.

A vigorous personality with ideas and ideals—all well tempered with an alert sense of humor.

EISENBERG, GAYA ABBY

"Abby"

319 East 6th St., New York, N. Y.

Manhattan spice and everything nice, with several nicknames, the creative urge, appreciative wit, responsive warmth, a musician all her own, and well that's enough.

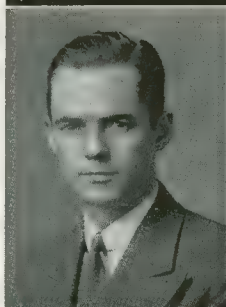

CRICK, JAMES V.

"Jim"

620 N. Delaware St., Independence, Mo.

Class President '34, '35, '36.

With a fervour for thoroughness the work he does tackle must be carried through to unified completion—or not done at all.

GALLAGHER, HERBERT C.

"Corpy"

Lyndonville, Vt.

Prattonia Rep. '36.

Having six nicknames indicates a natural genius for the easy cultivation of friendships. Give him ten minutes and he is your friend.

DAVID, STANLEY

"Stan"

9 Gould St., Newport, R. I.

Glee Club '34.

Destined by his own choice to be a decorative designer, stylist, epicure, a producer of his own art, and a connoisseur and patron of all other arts.

GREENBERG, RUTH

"Ruth"

356 DeKalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

From all seriousness to satirical humor and back again without any effort marks the variety of her thoughts.

Shades of ancestry are reflected in her refined conversation and poise.

HORSTMANN, DOROTHY "Dotty"

1167 Clay Ave., Bronx, N. Y.

Basketball '35; Volley-ball '35.

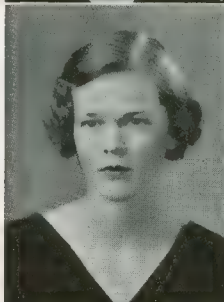

Enigmatic reserve with a twinkle of inner spontaneity that invites the cultivation of friendship.

KELLY, ANN BUCHANAN "Ann"

202 South St., Bennington, Vt.

With disarming good nature Ann's friendliness comes easily—as friendship should.

KETCHAM, HAVILAND C. "Havi"

6 Dwight St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

A man with a purpose who does not let it hamper the freedom nor dull the wit. Accomplishment will be his pleasure.

LANZANO, ANNE RITA "Anne"

1341 72nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Quiet but not shy—good humored but not boisterous—a diligent worker but modest about it—and a pleasant smile for all.

LIMMER, HAROLD L. "Harry"

Milldale, Conn.

Glee Club '33; Architecture Swimming Team '33; Prattoria Sales Manager '33; Pratt Play Shop '36.

Generous, impulsive, with good fellowship, a teasing laugh, dancing feet, and consistent good nature.

MAC ARTHUR, ROBERT C. "Mac"

64 Parmalee Ave., Hawthorne, N. J.

Melancholy, dismal, sombre, dark, gloomy, despondent, mournful, miserable, disconsolate and dejected. Mac has never heard of them.

MILLENDORF, RUDOLPH "Rudy"

32 St. Lukes Pl., Beacon, N. Y.

Glee Club '34; Artsmen Rep. '35, '36.

An even tempered friend with the desire and the ability to progress steadily onward and upward in the arts.

INTERIOR DECORATION III

In the fall of nineteen thirty five fifteen students were shocked to find that two of their three years at Pratt had already slipped by and in one short year they should be worth employing! Therefore, they decided that they should bend their efforts on finding out what would be useful after graduation. Boy! You should have seen those fifteen pair of ears prick up when someone mentioned the commercial business!

Now at the end of three years they feel prepared for what may come. They are not fifteen young decorators turned out by a machine. They are fifteen strong individualists who are ready for good hard work and know they have merely started to learn this fascinating art. Are they worth anyone's attention? They certainly are! Try to find a more ambitious and enthusiastic group ready to fire their profession with smart ideas anywhere.

Turning now to a less commercial viewpoint, they have a feeling of sincere regret to be leaving this school where they have found new and worthy friendships. In a student body as democratic as theirs is, and where everyone shows a mutual interest in the work, a separate world is built up, and as a result it becomes very difficult for them to leave. But they must, and so may they make their mark!

PICTORIAL ILLUSTRATION

Now that we are graduates and have paused long enough to catch our breath and look back over the three years spent in the pursuit of illustration, we can in most instances marvel at our own progress. The road ahead is rough, but in looking back at the starting point there can be discerned real advancement which gives us great encouragement.

In the first year most of us were not definitely decided on any particular phase of art work. Some were more or less secretly determined to battle their way to the lofty perch held by the leading illustrators and designers. Others had ideas of upsetting the world with revolutionary changes in the field of art. As time went on our group divided, some going along the paths of Costume Design, others into advertising work, and still others wandering to the fifth floor for Industrial Design. Those left in the class were determined to dethrone Dean Cornwall and become successful illustrators. However, we have altered our aim several times and now would boast of a script from some pulp magazine. This position we found is the field for our first illustrations.

Our stay at Pratt has been a grand period made up of hard work with a dash of fun for spice. The results are fond memories. We leave our easels, old paint clothes, and even the privilege of answering the hall telephone to those next in line. In doing so, we say "au revoir" to the most competent of faculties and the finest of schools.

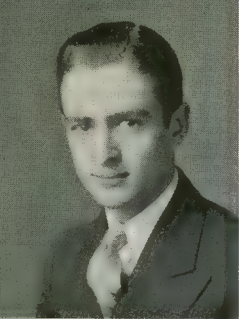

ILLUSTRATION III X

Our sojourn at Pratt during the past three years has been one of friendship and happiness. Our guidance was made secure by a co-operative and understanding faculty to whom we are thankful for valuable advice.

The unforgettable year was spent in building a solid foundation upon which we based the following two years of work. The second year of our work especially trained us in business adaptation. During the third year a professional attitude was developed in which we participated in various outside problems. At this stage of our work, competition among ourselves is such as we will soon experience in the business world.

Another activity in which some of our classmates participated was athletics.

We are now ready to face the world of business, and with us take the necessary facilities that were so faithfully provided by our director, Mr. Boudreau.

TEACHER TRAINING IV

And here we are at another jumping off place. We came to one last year, and true, many of us did jump, but some felt that we could take advantage of another year of training. This training, though intense, has been well worth the countless gallons of midnight oil and worn out pen points, for it has been characterized by the recognition of the value of student endeavor and individual research rather than the usual "learning by rote."

As the pioneering fourth year group, it has been our privilege to help in laying the foundations upon which incoming students will build. Ours has not been the role of "interested bystander" but rather as figures in the ever changing patterns of cultural development at school. For the past year we have enjoyed a unique and enviable position in our department, yet one not devoid of the sense of social unity and good fellowship so easily lost sight of in the face of individual study.

In keeping pace with the constantly changing concepts of the day, we have followed a diversified course, from studies of new teaching techniques to the intricacies of social organization. Many of the courses are the result of an evolution in which it has been our privilege to take part. It is this privilege which we pass on to our successors with the assurance that, glorying in its light, they, like ourselves, will strive toward that goal which we all hope some day to attain.

FACULTY

SCHOOL OF HOUSEHOLD

The School of Household Science and Arts offers highly specialized courses in clothing, in foods and in homemaking. The professional courses prepare for designing, construction and merchandising of clothing, or for the various phases of foods and nutrition work in commercial and institutional fields. The non-professional course prepares the way for effective homemaking.

The institution giving professional and intensive training should be likened to a beacon light. Its courses point definitely to a goal—a deep need in these years of economic fluctuation. It enables the student of high school or college qualifications to approach a subject with a definite plan. . . . The prestige given by greatly strengthened and rounded outlines of study has been enhanced during these past few years. This is perhaps to be expected, for the time and money elements are important factors. The courses given are fundamentally sound, thorough and interrelated with practice, and students are well prepared to meet not only existing economic conditions but the unknown future as well.

We are apt to forget that many millions of people have to be daily fed, clothed, sheltered, and other basic needs met in bad times as well as good; and catering to human needs with the vision to anticipate them, gives a strategic position to a school forcefully on the firing line. Furthermore, there are two sources from which to draw clientele—first: the large group which must be quickly but effectively prepared to meet objective needs; second: the group graduating from colleges giving only general courses. This latter group was emphasized in the survey conducted last year by the Alumnae Council of Mt. Holyoke College, one of the concluding significant statements being as follows: "The general opinion of the Council was that professional training can be acquired more effectively and swiftly after graduation."

To briefly summarize the educational situation in so far as it relates to schools and colleges of various types, we must remember that education is a broad and comprehensive process. It is, or should be, a continuous and lifetime process. Some may approach the problem from a general standpoint, giving what might be termed "table d'hôte menus," while others may approach from a concrete standpoint, giving what might be termed "à la carte menus." Years like the present are favorable to those schools and colleges approaching the problem from a concrete standpoint, for both time and money are the deciding factors.

SENIOR COSTUME DESIGN

In the fall of 1934 a class of embryonic designers entered the portals of Pratt feeling strange and unfamiliar in new surroundings. It was not long before we felt at home. There was a spirit and warmth in the Pratt student body which drew a newcomer into the circle of activities and made him feel a part of student life.

Our first few weeks here were made more pleasant and easy by the friendly attitude of our upper classmates and instructors. It is our wish to show the same spirit, the same friendliness, to the class of '37.

In September '35, we met again, a smaller class, but ready for more training. Classes became more interesting as better understanding of the work and co-operation between the teacher and student progressed. A feeling of unity and good fellowship pervaded the class and grew stronger with each passing month.

Now that the end of our second year is approaching it is difficult for us to believe we are on the threshold of our careers. Though we may travel far, we shall never forget our classmates and particularly our instructors, who were so friendly and helpful.

BAKER, ANTOINETTE
Box 64, Ancon, Canal Zone.

Time with "Toi"
Is just "no go."
For her we'd say
"Sweet and Slow."

BELLIS, JANE
116 Cambridge Pl., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Hockey '35, '36; Dancing Club '35, '36;
Baseball '35.

Jane can cook, sew, and sing,
Jane can do 'most everything.
Jane is small—pretty too;
Jane, my dear, "Here's to You."

SENIOR COS 1936

BELLOMO, GAETANA ALMA "Guy"
785 East 151st St., New York, N. Y.

"What is This Power?"
That one so small
Can accomplish so much
In no time at all!

CATON, DOROTHEA IDA "Johnson"
311 E. Euclid St., Valley Stream, N. Y.

New York Club '35; Captain Volley-ball
'35, '36; Basketball Club '36; Athletic
Rep. '36.

"Every Now and Then" everyone hears
Musical laughter to their ears.
It's "Johnson" in her funny way,
Who does her work but still can play.

BLOXHAM, RUTH "Ruthie"
154 Lee Ave., Rockville Centre, N. Y.

Class Secretary '35, '36; Home Economic
Rep. '36; Captain Basketball Team '35;
Captain Volley-ball Team '35.

"Over and Over Again" she knits,
Sweaters, skirts, scarfs, and mitts.
Two years secretary to the class,
All in all she's quite a lass.

CHASE, DORIS RUTH
1087 Second Ave., North Bergen, N. J.
Class Vice-President '35, '36; Volley-ball
'35, '36; Basketball '35, '36.

Her manner is smooth,
Her expression beguiling;
Power to sooth,
With "Eyes That are Smiling."

BROKAW, HELEN L.
1408 Martine Ave., Plainfield, N. J.
Dancing Club '35; Gym Team '35.

Little Helen is one of the girls,
Blue eyes, red lips, and dark curls.
Temple and Princeton are her pride;
As "Betty-Coed" she can't be tied.

CHASE, JANET "Jan"
255 Francis St., Teaneck, N. J.

New Jersey Club '35; New York Club
'36.

Tall and slender,
Loves to dance;
Her song is
"Rhythm and Romance."

CARUSO, TERESA "Tre"
44 Jefferson Ave., Elizabeth, N. J.
Hockey '35; New Jersey Club '35.

"Everyday" at the stroke of nine,
Teresa's in school feeling just fine.
Good little worker, not much to say;
Always pleasant, happy, and gay.

CHAWKIN, ROSE "Rosalee"
3201 Hull Ave., New York, N. Y.
Dancing Club '35.

Knit two! Pearl two!
"Rosalee," where are you?
In a corner knitting away,
"Take It Easy," that's just play.

TUME DESIGN

1936

GEBHART, GERTRUDE "Gebbie"

187 Elm Point Ave., Great Neck, N. Y.

Dancing Club '35; Hockey '35; New York Club '35, '36.

"Gebbie's" cute! "Gebbie's" fun!
Little effort—work is done.
By cracky, we tell the truth,
"Gebbie's" our "Accent on Youth."

GEOLY, LUCY

"Lu"

2322 Avenue N, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Dark Eyes!"
Dark hair!
If you need a friend
"Lu's" always there.

CODISH, RAJEAN "Jean"

1310 Rogers Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Prattonia Rep. '36.

"Jean's" "A Little Bit Independent,"
In the school a regular Attendant.
She works hard and quite steady,
For inspection she's always ready.

ELPS, ALETHIA ALLEAN "Lee"

110 West 138th St., New York, N. Y.

Volley-ball '35.

"Outside of You,"
We wonder who
Is always so cheery
And never weary?

COGGESHALL, HELEN BERYL

1 Ellwood Pl., Newport, R. I.

Hockey '35; Dancing Club '35; Social Chairman Artisans Club '36.

Here's to the dances!
Here's to the shows!
Here's Helen's theme song,
"Anything Goes!"

ENOCH, JOSEPHINE "Jo"

444 Merrick Rd., Lynbrook, N. Y.

Volley-ball '35; Basketball '35; Baseball
'35; Hockey '36.

There's someone right
Who can't go wrong;
"Jo's" the girl,
"What's the Name of That Song?"

CUNLIFFE, PRISCILLA Y. "Prissie"

R. F. D. 4, Auburn, Me.

Dancing Club '35.

"Fill the Steins to Dear Old Maine!"
Our little song bird is here again;
She cheers us up all day long
Imagine Priscilla without a song.

FAIST, DOROTHEA JUDITH "Dot"

Knickerbocker Rd., Closter, N. J.

Hockey '35; Baseball '35; Class Treasurer
'35.

"Redheads on Parade" in Pratt,
Our Miss Faist is in on that.
Small, cute, and very neat,
She's one who is hard to beat.

DUNN, MARIE KATHERINE

1471 East 17th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Riding Club '35, '36; Volley-ball '35.

"You are the One,"
So nice and fair;
With eyes so blue
And titian hair.

FERRITER, KATHERINE "Kay"

15 Morgan St., Holyoke, Mass.

Treasurer Home Economics Club '36.

"Every Little Moment" is for "Kay."
Always working—no time to play.
Everything she does is way above par,
No doubt about it "Kay" will go far.

GORDON, LYDIA

Crompond Rd., Peekskill, N. Y.

Volley-ball '35; Associate Editor of Prat-tonia '36.

"One in a Million!"
The saying is true.
Your friendship is lasting
As friends will be true.

GREENWALD, FRANCES

"Fran"

815 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y.

"Anything Can Happen"
When "Fran's" around,
She's a howl—
A regular clown.

SENIOR COS 1936

HINMAN, JANE

"Janie"

259 Fairview Ave., Bogota, N. J.

Gym Exhibit '35; New York Club '35;
New Jersey Club '36.

"At Last" here's Jane,
Her airs so smart.
The essence of grace
She does impart.

KOZLOWSKI, THERESA

"Tre"

393 South Main St., Torrington, Conn.

Class President '35, '36; H. S. & A. Council Rep. '35, '36; Volley-ball '36.

As our President "Tre's" been grand,
For two whole years was the best in the land.

Advisor, helper, and our cheerer-upper,
We'd say for "Tre," "You're a Builder-upper."

HOWLAND, HAZEL L.

"Haze"

Oxford, N. Y.

Hockey '35; Dancing Club '35; Vice-President Artisans Club '35; President
Artisans Club '36.

Hazel has a temper
That never goes wrong.
For her we'd say,
"Life Is a Song."

LA ROCCA, JEAN

1812 70th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Basketball '35; Hockey '35.

"Who" looks at life Without dismay?
"Who" checks the tide
Of trouble at bay?

KALAMARIDIS, KATHRYN

"Kay"

110 First St., Hoboken, N. J.

Hockey '35; Baseball '35; Basketball '36.

"Everything's Been Done Before,"
Excluding designs for "Kay";
She always finds something new
In her own little innocent way.

LYON, MARJORIE

"Marge"

306 Western Ave., Albany, N. Y.

New York City
Is Marge's town,
For her "The Music Goes 'Round 'n 'Round."

KIMPEL, AMELIA

150 Grant Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Always" on time!
She made the climb!
Presence of mind!
A perfect find!

MALLIE, NATALIE

"Nat"

11118 Ada Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

Riding Club '35, '36.

"Every Nite at Eight" there is a lecture,
On civics, poetry, or architecture.
"Nat's" ambition really flames
When she furthers her upright aims.

TUME DESIGN

1936

POTASH, LUCILLE

"Lu"

2059 East 24th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Hockey '35; Volley-ball '36; Basketball '35, '36.

"Lulu's Back in Town"

Pushing a needle up and down.
She can sketch as well as sew
And still has time to see her beau.

ROMIG, JUNE

"Junie"

Metropolitan Apts., Reading, Penn.

Captain Baseball '35; Swimming Club '35;
Hockey '36.

Curly bangs, a darling smile,
She shines and sparkles all the while.
For inspiration she only must Hear Hoagy's famous sweet "Stardust."

MARGOLIS, REBECCA

"Beck"

27 Russel Pl., Freeport, N. Y.

Hockey '35; Dancing Club '35; Women's Club Rep. '35.

The climb is hard,
The trail is long,
Still "Beck's" never "Without a Song."

MARZULLI, AGNES ANN

392 Sterling Pl., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Hockey '35, '36; Basketball '36.

"Sailor Beware!" Sailor take care!
Who hasn't seen her dark hair?
Smiling from the very start,
Now she's in every heart.

MATTHIEU, CHRISTINE

"Chris"

295 West 11th St., New York, N. Y.

Dancing Club '35; Hockey '36.

"Lovely to Look At," Delightful to know,
To live on a farm
Watch "Chris" go.

MAU, HELEN

267 Herrick Ave., Teaneck, N. J.

Volley-ball '36.

We envy some,
They number few.
One, of course,
Is "Just You."

MOFFAT, JANET

32 Dennison Drive, West Weston,
Ontario, Canada.

President Home Economics Club '36; Rep.
Home Economics '35; Volley-ball '35.

"Sweet and Lovely"
Describes Janet best;
For Home Economics
She d'd her best.

MOLINE, VELMA

"Billy"

Bartholomew Rd., Middletown, Conn.

"Please Believe Me"
When I say,
We hope "Billy" be happy
Forever and a day.

NEELSON, MARION

39 Jackson St., Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Rep. Home Economics '36.

"If" anyone in this wide world, will Climb to success up that famous hill;
Marion will be at the head of the line
'Cause she can sketch as well as design.

POGUE, HELEN CARTER

"Pogie"

334 Hampshire Rd., Great Neck, N. Y.

Hockey '35; Dancing Club '35; New York Club '35, '36; Class Treasurer '36; Captain of Hockey '36.

"I Get A Kick Out of You,"
The rest of the class likes her too.
Pogie supplies the humor and wit
To make us laugh while in class we sit.

SIEGEL, LILLIAN "Lib"
 445 East 95th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
 On Friday nites "About a Quarter to Nine"
 "Lib's" at a movie right in line.
 The dishes she wins she puts away
 In hopes she'll have a set some day.

SILVERSTEIN, EVA
 542 Ashford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
 Here is Eve,
 Jolly and gleaming.
 Always far away
 "Drifting and Dreaming."

SULLIVAN, SHEILA "Sheil"
 354 Hampden St., Holyoke, Mass.
 Women's Club Rep. '36.
 "Ho-Hum," look who's here,
 Black pearl, Indian, Joe, and beer.
 Her work is fine but she often needs a rest,
 She looks like Lombard when dressed her best.

SEVIN, RUTH L. "Ruthy"
 47 East 126th St., New York, N. Y.
 Captain Volley-ball '35; Captain Basketball '35, '36; Athletic Rep. '35; Hockey '36.
 Wherever you room,
 Be it near or far;
 We know you'll stay
 "As Sweet as You Are."

VROOM, GRACE L. "Gay"
 51 Ethelbert Pl., Ridgewood, N. J.
 Fresh as a daisy
 With a light tread.
 Does that come
 From "Early to Bed?"

SMITH, OLIVE M.
 4 Francis Pl., Hillside, N. J.
 Swimming Meet '35; Basketball Club '35, '36; Volley-ball '36.
 From Pratt to marriage
 Is an awful climb,
 But Olive has ambitions
 "On Love and a Dime."

WALKER, ISABEL M. "Ibby"
 29-43 Gilmore St., East Elmhurst, N. Y.
 "True" to her work
 Both nite and day;
 "Ibby's" that girl
 In every way.

STEIN, ISABEL "Is"
 48 Hillside Pl., Newark, N. J.
 Hockey '35; Volley-ball '35; Basketball '35, '36.
 "Eenie Meenie Meenie Moe,"
 Sketch, paint, design, or sew;
 Which does "Is" do the best?
 She does all with such great zest.

WEISS, VERA A.
 1966 Ocean Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
 We'll "Remember" this girl
 And her fine ways,
 At dear Old Pratt—
 Those glorious days.

STONE, ANNE F.
 1348 Carroll St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
 Volley-ball '35; Baseball '35; Riding Club '35.
 Charming and bright,
 That's Anne Stone.
 She'll never sit
 At home "Alone."

WHITLOCK, ELOISE SHEPPARD "El"
 94 Lincoln Ave., New Brunswick, N. J.
 Hockey '35, '36; Life Saving '35; Basketball '36; Executive Committee Artisans Club '36.
 Never a worry, never a care,
 She's the girl with the red-gold hair.
 It seems she's busy in her way
 All of "Twenty-four Hours a Day."

SENIOR DIETETICS

September 10, 1934, marked the first meeting of the ninety-four girls who now comprise the Senior Dietitians of Pratt Institute. The Senior-Junior Tea, coming as it did so early in the semester which was to bring such a variety of new and unique experiences, was the first social opportunity given to us to become truly a part of our Alma Mater. Thereafter, time became very precious. Interesting field trips took the place of free hours. It was delightful to discover the "how" and "wherefor" of places such as the Hotel Saint George, and Chin Lee's, among others. Soon our interest was focused on athletics and our sportsters did not disappoint us—we won the volley ball interclass tournament. And then came the rush and excitement of June with the entire class set to work in summer training, which has, no doubt, decided the individual plans of the students as to dietary or commercial work.

September and back again to the portals of learning, but this time with a feeling different from that of a year ago. Each and every one of us was filled with the sentiment of "belonging." Things went along very smoothly, and interest in our class as such was heightened by the fact that the hockey championship was ours. Early in December, the new course in Quality Foods was announced. Although this group is limited as to registration, the participants succeed in preparing tasty entrées that are pleasing to the eye, crisp, cool-looking salads, delicious, tempting cakes and daintily tinted candies which are sold at special tables in the restaurant. Slowly after came a round of social activities—the Senior Class Dance and the Junior Tea Dance given in honor of the Seniors.

Now that the time which a kind fate has allotted to us to spend here at Pratt draws to a close, the Senior Dietitians feel certain that it was not all in vain but rather that the helpful advice of our instructors, the memory of many friendships well made, and the abundant store of practical information will remain with them throughout the coming years, to lighten the way and to clear the road.

ADDISS, RUTH MARGARET "Ruth"
121 South St., Jersey City, N. J.
Basketball Team '35; Volley-ball Team '35.

She is a form of life and light,
That, seen, becomes a part of sight:
And rises, where'er we turn our eyes.

ADLER, LENORE C. "Lee"
24 Bennett Ave., New York, N. Y.
Volley-ball Team '35; Basketball Club '35.

"Her voice was ever soft,
Gentle and low—an excellent thing in woman."

KAPLAN, BELLA

"Belle"

107-12 112th St., Richmond Hill, N. Y.

Wanamaker's Table Setting Contest;
Hostess Home Economics Tea for High Schools.

Bella is a "lovely girl"
V/e all will say
V/hat she thinks of Us?
Nay, Nay, Nay.

KASDAN, EVELYN

"Ev"

1038 Rose St., Far Rockaway, N. Y.

Volley-ball '34.

"The glad circle around her yield their souls
To festive wit and mirth that knows no gall."

GOLD, SHELIA

"Beulah"

3591 St. Urbain St., Montreal, Quebec,
Canada.

The cleverest girl in the class—she thinks Dorothy Parker the second—she also thinks.

HUESTON, JEANNETTE

"Jeannette"

Box 159, Scotch Plains, N. J.

Heres to Jeannette! known by few
Here's luck in your work that's new.

GOTTWALD, ANNE E.

"Skippy"

16 Hamilton St., Johnstown, N. Y.

Senior-Junior Tea Committee; Hockey
Team '35.

Jolly on occasion, serious too,
A very persistent worker, 'tis true.

HUNTER, JOYCE M.

"Joyce"

1050 Spadina Crescent East, Saskatoon,
Sask., Canada.

A vocabulary cannot describe her immeasurable virtues, her understanding sympathy and an unusual wit that has broken many a dull moment.

HELBING, MARION

"Marion"

40 Hadlanbstrasse, Zurich, Switzerland.

Here is an interesting personality in whom good nature abounds. Honesty and sociability make her a good comrade.

JOHNSON, ISABELLE

"Isabelle"

384 Broadway, Lynbrook, N. Y.

Secretary New York State Club.

If Izzy's heart were severed
In some mysterious way
She'd pass it around to everyone
Till she gave it all away.

HELDEN, GLADYS E.

"Gay"

22 Riggs Pl., South Orange, N. J.

Chairman Foreign Food Dinners '36.

Gay is so correctly named
For she is one typical of that name
But this year has wrought a change
In Gay—we hold the S and T to blame.

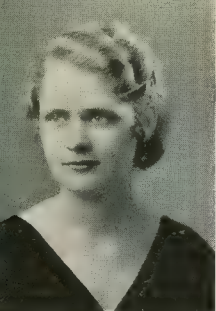

JOHNSTON, JEANNETTE R.

"Jeanne"

Franklin St., Haworth, N. J.

May the radiance of your health and smile remain always with you—Jeannette
Johnston with the "T" of course!

KEUBLER, MARION H. "Kubie"
808 14th St., Union City, N. J.
Prattonia Rep. '35; Basketball Tea '35;
Swimming Team '35.

Loyal in friendship
In trouble she's near
But her outstanding virtue
Is that she's sincere.

KOEHLER, DORIS E. "Doris"
Saylorsburg, R. D. 2, Penn.
Athletic Rep. '36; Basketball '35, '36;
Hockey '35; Swimming '35; Volley-ball
'35.

Nothing is so popular as kindness
Nothing is so loyal as true friendship
She combined them with a quiet seriousness and
Garnished it with a charming smile.

SENIOR 1936

LATHAM, BLANCE "Buncha"
Orient, N. Y.
President Dietetics Club '36.

Little deeds of kindness
Little words of love
Make her life on earth
Like the heaven above.

DRESSMAKING

On the ninth day of September 1935, thirty lost souls entered the halls of Pratt Institute to take up a course in professional dress-making. Under the helpful guidance of Miss Clark and Miss Herald we soon adjusted ourselves, and in a remarkably short time we had a fairly complete knowledge of the construction of a dress.

As this year draws to a close it seems incredible that we have accomplished so much. Under the supervision of Miss Clark and Miss Herald we have gained considerable knowledge in drafting flat patterns and draping which makes it possible for us to design our own clothes. Then there were the field trips with Miss Duntz who also taught us sketching and art appreciation. The five months spent with Miss Govers were enjoyable as well as useful. Under her guidance we made exquisite lingerie blouses. In complete contrast to this fine handwork taught by Miss Govers, we learned to operate the "Power Machine" under the supervision of Miss Palmer.

As we come to the parting of the ways we want to thank all our instructors for making this such a happy as well as constructive year. Our especial thanks go to Miss Kinny for her helpful suggestions which enabled us to do better work; and to Mr. Howe who has done so much to make this year educational as well as technical.

H O M E M A K I N G

We came together in October as total strangers, but we have cur large number of interested faculty members to thank for drawing us all together during our one year course here at Pratt.

Mrs. Mayer, as new supervisor of the homemaking class, made an excellent start this year by planning such a varied course of study for us. We have had lectures on everything from flower arrangements to the buying of linens or stockings; we have inspected "Sloane's House of Years" as well as modern indirect lighting in one of the big electrical houses; and with the co-operation of Loeser's, we have learned a great deal by the actual experience of furnishing the model 3-room apartment for a bride and groom on the budget of $600.

We hope that our teachers have not minded tasting and testing our bits of newly gained knowledge in cooking and serving, but it seems that inviting them to one of our meals over in the Home-making House is one of our only ways of showing our appreciation for all they have done for us.

Even if we feel in leaving, that all we have actually given the school is our plans for redecorating one room over in the practice house, we are certainly sure that Pratt has given us things we won't forget for a long time.

INSTITUTIONAL MANAGEMENT

In one short year, since we embarked on our intensive course of study at Pratt, we have come to realize that we could have chosen no better place to acquire the thorough background that has prepared us for our greatest ambition. During these days which have slipped by so swiftly, our characters have been moulded to bring out the very best in all of us. Credit is due to the untiring efforts of our instructors, and our director who led us toward the realization of our ideals by his guiding words of advice.

Our hours spent here have been happy ones, linked together with the forming of new and undying friendships. We have worked as a unit, closely knitted together, sharing each others mistakes and successes, and have learned the true meaning of the words, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

To create more interest in outside activities, our class formed the Institutional Management Alumni Club in connection with the Home Economics Club. This club has proved very constructive and has given us a chance to work out many of our ideas.

The graduation of our class will be only the beginning of the achievements to be won by its members. May every one reach the top.

Director

FACULTY

SCHOOL OF LIBRARY

The Pratt Institute Free Library has an exceptional character and reason for being at Pratt Institute in its three-fold capacity as the Library of Pratt Institute, a Library for the people of Brooklyn, and as the home of the School of Library Science. This trinity of responsibility becomes a unity of purpose and organization in the Library's status as one of the four major elements of Pratt Institute.

The service of the Library to the public was the Founder's aspiration at a time when no public library existed. That it is free to all is one of Pratt Institute's claims to distinction in its first ambition to "help the other fellow."

For the faculty and students of the several Schools the Library devotes extensive and highly expert collections with special bearing upon the subjects taught in every department. For the people outside is maintained a general collection of literature in all fields of knowledge and popular interest available equally to everyone at the Institute.

Then the Library School with its single Class in a one-year course prepares a carefully selected group for professional librarianship with the Library as its laboratory. It is the second School founded in America, and the first unchanged in character, scope and location.

The class of 1936 had the distinction of being the largest since 1895, consisting as it did of twenty-eight members. The geographical range and the diversity of interests represented in the class, were very nearly as inclusive as the well known classification scheme of Dewey.

Academically and socially it was a year filled with incident. We were the first class to have the privilege of receiving instruction from Miss Hansen, the new staff member. Under her guidance, we were initiated into modern cataloging methods and problems, and became aware of a cataloger's need for imagination as well as accuracy and judgment. In the second term we were organized into a department for the purpose of cataloging the Friend's School Library; a problem of cataloging which gave us ample opportunity to test out the theories we had been taught. Miss Kinloch's lectures covered the basic principles involved in organizing a children's department and in choosing children's books. Her special instruction in story telling proved a delightful and helpful experience for those of us who elected to take it. The inimitable manner of Miss Rathbone in keeping the class self-informed on current topics and the status of the library field, both at home and abroad, is one that none of us is likely to forget, nor to remember with anything but complete appreciation. The class thoroughly enjoyed Mr. Steven's lectures on book buying and found the recollections he gave of his early days in the book trade most interesting.

The reception early in November and the luncheon in February offered pleasant opportunities to become acquainted with the former Pratt Library School graduates. By a majority agreement, the class did not take the usual Spring Trip but, in May, attended the A. L. A. convention in Richmond, Virginia.

Our memories of Pratt will include the prevalent "Oh, the pity of it all!" expression as we struggled over projects, reports and examinations, and a certain fondness for the Tuesday afternoon teas and the moments of relaxation and self expression we enjoyed on the roof.

FACULTY

SCHOOL OF SCIENCE AND

Unusual interest attaches to this year's graduating class in the School of Science and Technology, because it is the first to arrive at that point since the addition of a third year in our special, intensive engineering courses has made possible their present amplified content, which now compares favorably with that of representative four-year courses of the regulation college pattern. Our improved curricula are giving the expected greater satisfaction to students and faculty, but the ultimate test must be found in the measure of success attending the after-careers of those who graduate this year and in following years. The School looks forward to the outcome with confidence that these graduates and their educational equipment will prove equal to the ever increasing demands the social, economic and industrial developments are placing upon the engineer and his kind. So, to all the members of our Class of 1936, the School's entire staff extends most earnest wishes that their lives may fulfill the high hopes in which we, their Pratt Institute friends, sincerely join.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING

For the past two years we have been impressed by our director that being the first three-year class was quite an honor, but not until we returned in September of this year did we realize in what form this honor would be. It was speedily learned that we were to have the doubtful honor of being worked harder than any preceding graduating class. We have survived, and as graduation draws increasingly nearer work seems a minor matter.

During the year we have been represented in the field of athletics by representative teams. For the first time, the third year class was forced to place teams on the field in all sports. After a dearth of several years, the championship in baseball came to the chemistry department through the efforts of our class team. As usual, a large number of our members have been prominent in social and student activities of the Institute.

This year the class sponsored the S. & T. Convention, and through Dr. Rogers arranged for the Presidents of the four national technical societies to be present. An excellent program was also planned for the entertainment of all students attending.

As we approach June 4th, we look forward to a new environment in industry; to the time when we may attend alumni meetings and meet classmates whom we have not seen for some time; and to the annual banquet where a good time will be had with the "old gang" again.

The class wishes to thank all the faculty with whom they have come in contact, for their splendid co-operation, and to our grand supervisor, Dr. Rogers whose personality and ever present smile will live in our hearts forever and make of us—true Pratt men.

SPRITZER, EUGENE J. "Spritz"

Gloversville, N. Y.

Class Bowling '35; Class Swimming '34, '35; Chairman Entertainment Committee S. & T. Convention '35.

A great expounder of wisdom. To hear him talk is to know him.

STICKNEY, CHARLES K. "Charlie"

Bantam, Conn.

Class Soccer '36; Class Vice-President '36; New England Club '34, '35, '36.

Charlie never says much but is a real chemist and his willingness to help others has gained him many friends.

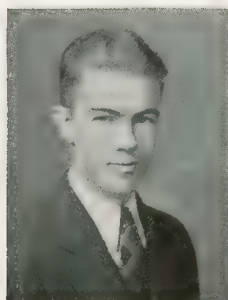

REYNOLDS, EDWARD H. "Eddie"

70 Casper St., Middletown, Conn.

Basketball Co-manager '35, '36; Men's Club '34, '35, '36; Student Council '34, '35, '36.

It takes a good "nutmeg" chemist to manage a good basketball team.

RUF, ALBERT J. "Ruf"

209 East 53rd St., New York, N. Y.

Class Swimming '34, '35, '36.

"Al" doesn't claim to be a wrestler but he's taught the boys some new holds. Say, Al, pick on someone your own size for a change.

Class Treasurer '34, '35, '36; Prattonia Rep. '34, '36; Soccer '36.

An argument is this man's meat
This he would rather do than eat
In spite of this, the students cry
"He's just a real good all 'round guy."

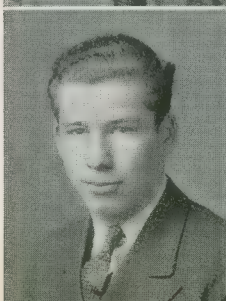

RABINOWE, ALBERT "Ruby"

96 High St., Yonkers, N. Y.

Class Soccer, Bowling and Swimming '34, '35, '36; Dance Committee '35, '36.

Describe him if you can—and who is there to question his ability in anything he undertakes?

SIEWART, CHARLES "Charley"

114-39 138th St., Jamaica, N. Y.

Charley is another one of the commuters who sleeps and studies to and from school. Despite all the time spent traveling he gets his work done.

SMITH, EDWARD J. "Smitty"

Amagansett, N. Y.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

In the fall of nineteen hundred and thirty-three, we the members of the "Class of '36," began our scholastic career at Pratt Institute with the distinction of being the first three-year class of "Electricals." With much more pep and willingness than is usually displayed by most "guinea pigs," we welcomed this noble experiment.

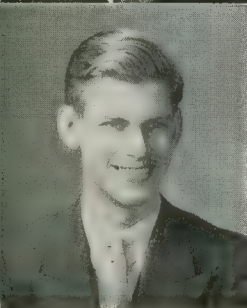

The passing of the first year brought its share of trials and surprises, including the fact that electricity seemed to play a small unimportant part in our studies. However with the increasing emphasis on "engineer," the second and third years soon made us realize the need for a sound and broad training in order to be able to understand the magnitude and complexity of our profession.

Much pastime and diversion was afforded during the course by the extra-curricular activities in which the class took an active part. Dances, banquets and clubs were enjoyed by the more socially minded members, while those athletically inclined, gave their rivals keen competition in every field of sport.

The helpful and understanding guidance of the men responsible for our training made the work immeasurably lighter and more enjoyable. Their friendly and untiring aid imbued in us a certain amount of confidence and eagerness which in the course of events will bring about a more complete realization of our ambitions.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

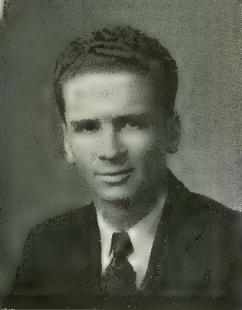

Approximately three years ago, we entered Pratt Institute to inaugurate the new, extended, and improved course in Industrial Mechanical Engineering. As first graduates of this pioneer movement, it behooves us to reflect and express our convictions.

Through intensive, carefully supervised effort, both in work and in play, we have approached a degree of perfection fitting us for the industrial world. We feel that the three-year course has given us more opportunity to investigate and search out the various phases of the profession of engineering, than has heretofore been permitted.

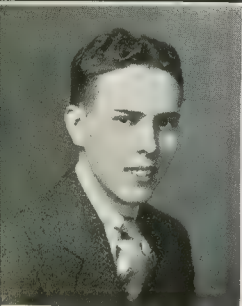

The last year here at the Institute has displayed a new spirit of co-operation and friendliness that was sorely lacking in the first few terms of our work. Through this spirit we have accomplished much and it is hoped have set a precedent for the under-graduates.

We have placed winning, championship teams on the court, the diamond, and the bowling alleys. Successful dances, smokers, and social functions have been held. Interest and attainment in A. S. M. E. activities have been accomplished.

To the members of the faculty, who have guided us in our course, we take this opportunity to express our thanks and appreciation. We hope that the friendships developed here may live long.

ABRAMOWITZ, ABRAHAM "Abe"
621 Hemlock St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
A. S. M. E.; S. & T. Convention '34, '35.
"Well you see—then the war came."

159 Goodwin St., Bristol, Conn.
Varsity Baseball '34; Class Basketball '35, '36; Class Baseball '35, '36; Bowling '35, '36; A. S. M. E. '35.
The class' 160 lbs. of fighting fury.

MECHANICAL 1936

BAILEY, CHARLES R. "Charley"
144 Exeter St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Editor-in-Chief of the Mech. Review '35 '36; A. S. M. E. '35, '36.

An efficient worker, sometimes impetuous, but only in the way which gets things done.

BRAGINET, FREDERICK T. "Freddy"
381 Bristol St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Basketball '34, '35, '36; Class Baseball '34, '35, '36; Class Soccer '35, '36; Class Swimming '34, '35, '36.

The Beau Brummel of the class who never found the jacket to match his "English" trousers.

BROWN, JULIUS L. "Brownie"
4328 Matilda Ave., New York, N. Y.

Class Swimming '34; A. S. M. E.; S. A. E. '35, '36.

Seldom can you find a more industrious lad,
Who loves his work and is never mad.

BURR, HOWARD E. "Howie"

ADVERTISING DESIGN II

The "Most Anything Can Happen" transpired when we yearlings were thrust into the hands of the Advertising Design faculty this year. As of old, we proved ourselves staunch followers of the democratic idea of free speech—which proved an asset in extracting pointers on cut paper and the like, from Mr. Leonard.

By way of contrast, communistic blood was made to boil by the ever-present necessity to fight the foibles connected with mechanics—the class in structural representation. This ceaseless endeavoring has brought out the best in the telephone, a most willing still-life model.

In conclusion let it be said that John Doe or Mary Jones of above group, is hereby proclaimed the future dictator of buying or selling soup to nuts. So accept these weary workmen as they are—plain-clothesmen, masquerading bright colors and public appeal.

ARCHITECTURE I

Resolution engraved on every face, we aspiring young architects passed through the proverbial portals of a new Alma Mater—Pratt Institute—in the autumn of 1935. Were we fearful of the opinion voiced by business for an architect's opportunities during these days of economic strife? No! We were determined to sweep aside all obstacles.

Our work mirrored a spirit of conscientiousness and ambition, and the professors immediately showed keen appreciation for such diligent draftsmen. Numerous noses were soon reflecting a reddish hue, not from the usual cause, but from engaging the proverbial grindstone in mortal combat. As time marched onward the mysterious realm of architecture became more understandable and enjoyable—evidence enough that we had chosen our destined profession.

But—enough of this—the ancient adage "all labor and no pranks puts John behind the ranks" now comes to the fore. Shall we ever cease to gaze yearningly on those lapses into the gayer side of life? Lumps will rise in our throats as we peer into the cold classroom at lunch-time—fond memories of stale ham sandwiches, bread crumbs, and orange peels, proportionately arranged on desks, stools and floor. And those dances—gallant lads tripping the light fantastic with winsome Pratt lasses to the raucous rhythm of "'Round and 'Round"; waltzing, fox-trotting, and flea-hopping thus creating a typical scene of American youth at play.

However, we must now turn away from the present and project our spirits into the future. Will 1937 bring further tidings of accomplishments? Our hearts beat a trifle faster in anticipation of the second year. Problems will become more complicated, even seem impossible, but with the aid of our most competent instructors, we hope to ride the waves of arduous labors into the golden sea of prosperity and everlasting happiness.

D E S I G N I

On that first Monday morning in the fall of 1935 the small group that was to be known as "Design I," met with over two hundred anxious freshmen in Memorial Hall. Although coming from widely scattered sections of the country, the mutual problems of a new environment and the difficulties of an unfamiliar routine served to tie us together into one congenial class.

In reviewing the experiences of our first year in Pratt we find much to convince us that our choice of a school was a wise one. To cite one example—from the very beginning we have been given the opportunity to design with clay in three dimensions, a training that through the teaching of volume and mass has given us an early start in practical, creative design. If our design work were to depend upon our facility in two dimensional representation, which is by its nature definitely limiting, we would never have made such gratifying progress in the key subject of our course. The allocation of subject matter in the remainder of our curricular activities has also shown the same intelligent supervision. In every course there is apparent awareness of the limitations of the manufacturing and reproductive processes of industry, a preparation that will be of invaluable assistance to us when our time comes to leave the friendly atmosphere of the school we are proud to call our own.

And now that the problems of a first year are over, we possess a new found confidence in ourselves, and we look eagerly forward to two more years of study in which we hope to build a record of accomplishment that will be a credit to ourselves and to Pratt Institute.

FASHION ILLUSTRATION II

This is our second year and we seem to have become acclimated. As freshmen, we felt the terrible newness of everything, and the enigmatic smiles of the teachers at our first artistic attempts had the power to send us into spasms of fear.

During this second year, the dying muse was rekindled and thus newly inspired the wavering ambition of our artistic souls and our more or less artistic finger-tips. We now feel that we have progressed towards our goal of becoming bigger and better Fashion Illustrators.

We have survived the first year and we have not yet reached the dignity and responsibility of the Seniors, who are faced with the necessity of having to go forth to seek positions. That phase of the game is fortunately still in the dim and distant future.

In the meantime, we shall continue to work under the watchful tutelage of our patient instructors and to bask in and enjoy the manifold opportunities offered by the second year.

September seventh found new Pratt students milling about the halls and offices of the Art School in an honest endeavor to find his rightful place. For the first day or two our supervisor, Miss Everest, was kept busy setting us straight because we had the habit of appearing in odd places at odd times.

Things were soon running smoothly and we settled down to enjoy our interesting course. The weeks sped by and nothing of an extraordinary nature occurred although we did have our picture taken which was quite an event. With the coming of the Christmas Holidays two of our number left us. Our ranks were only temporarily depleted, however, for with the coming of the second term our group was reinforced by the arrival of six new gentlemen. Unfortunately we lost a good natured instructor, Mr. Boulware.

To all the patient instructors who have helped us along and put up with our noise and stale jokes we extend our most sincere thanks. We all feel that we have learned much and we are looking forward with eagerness to more equally successful years.

Our first year at Pratt Institute is rapidly drawing to a close. This has been a year of new opportunities, views, and friendships. It has been filled with scholastic, social, and athletic activity.

We look back upon those first few weeks last fall. It is true that most of us were bewildered with the new things, but soon, affected by the friendliness of everyone, we felt at home. The upper classmen were only too willing to help us all adapt ourselves.

Throughout the year our class has supported both the school's interests and its own interests. Most of us attended the social functions. We have a place in athletics, for some of our young men were varsity basketball members, and almost half of the soccer team was composed of I-B men. Besides, the second prize in a school contest was awarded to one of the girls of this class.

We all can truthfully say that this first year has been one of extreme pleasure, and we are all looking forward to two more pleasant years at Pratt Institute.

As our class slowly assembled from a great mass of humanity in Memorial Hall that crisp morning in September, we all eyed each other with hesitant friendliness. We did have one thing in common though, and that was art—we were all aspiring to be artists. Gradually the wheels of friendship began to turn, we became congenial through our work and social activities, but there also developed in each of us a certain independence. When we worked we became detached from the group and created as individuals, feeling at ease because of the subconscious awareness of the harmony around us of a well chosen group of girls.

We find the competition among ourselves most inspiring, and it is pleasing to think how we have helped each other toward our goal. This, I believe, is the most important thing about our class as we did nothing spectacular in the way of sports or social activities. In our next year we will branch out into different courses, but of all our years of training we will always remember the I-C group that broke the ice for us and initiated us to a phase in our lives when we fully realized the joy of self-expression and when we had a vast sea of new faces before us, out of which we chose friends we will keep for many years.

A year and a half ago, we were a class of bewildered freshmen spending our days seemingly engulfed in a sea of drawing boards, T squares, and other paraphernalia common to the artist.

Now in recalling the memories of our past experiences, we realize that the days of confusion were very few, for it was not long before we had claimed a part in both the business and social activities which were opened to us.

Our original class has been divided, and we are now three definite groups each specializing in his own field of art. Although the class is no longer one working unit, there still remains fast friendships which will always hold the II-X Class together.

We look forward to our remaining year and a half at Pratt during which time we shall endeavor to affix to ourselves as artists those qualities which in this highly commercialized era will insure us places in the business world.

ILLUSTRATION IX

As the "I-X" group, class of January 1939, we met for the first time on January 27. That opening day at Pratt was a frank revelation of all that was to come. There was to be no frivolous wasting away of time, but rather a zealous attention to study always. And even on this first day we were made to see the sincerity behind that aim.

From the beginning ours has been a jolly group. With the lightness of spirits we have managed to combine an equally buoyant enthusiasm for our work, so that what we lack at times in sobriety, we more than make up for in work well done. To our teachers should go most of the credit for this. With the passing months we have come to know all of them intimately; with their help we succeeded in readjusting ourselves to the new routine after that first chaotic week, and for this we are more than grateful.

The few short months we have been here have already shown us what to expect from Pratt. We are looking forward to the remaining years with eager anticipation.

INDUSTRIAL DESIGN II

As we entered our second year at Pratt Institute, we started confidently on our way to learn the principles of design. With the addition of several new members, all working with a common interest, we soon welded ourselves into a congenial group.

We found our work this year very interesting and to the point. We are learning the fundamentals of design under the tutelage of competent instructors. With help of such teaching we have brought our creative ability to the surface to find that we are able to put our ideas into some logical and practical form. We also were able to continue the study of History of Art. In this way we maintained our touch with the fine arts.

Nearing the completion of our second year, we realized that we had accomplished much, and we are eagerly looking forward to another year and the additional knowledge that we shall gain. We are confident that if we maintain our present rate of progress in the field of design we shall all become successful designers.

INTERIOR DECORATION II

We have found in our second year of Interior Decoration that we really have some original ideas of our own. Although we enjoyed our research work last year and realize that it is essential; we all yearned to create our own designs. And embarking into the realm of the third dimension, we find that we are able to express our ideas more clearly.

We have had little perspective until this year and it has taken patience on the part of our instructors to raise us to a professional standard, but we hope to give them enough good results to compensate for their efforts.

Our class is much smaller this year, due to the separation of the Design I class into the two classes of Interior Decoration and Industrial Design. Although there is a great deal of competition among the different members of our class we are knit together in a close friendship.

We hope that our efforts next year shall produce wonderful results in the field of creative decoration, and we want to thank our instructors for having inspired us to want to do more and better work.

PICTORIAL ILLUSTRATION II

The students of this class are serenely confident in the opinion that Pratt waited just forty-eight years for the coming of a new and ultra ambitious class of '37. Two years have passed and with them many happy hours of competitive industry that we would all too gladly re-enact. Artists are happy go lucky they say. Our class is perhaps the noisiest in the school, yet no one can question the quality of our artistic achievements.

Versatility is evident in our group. We can boast of piano players, dancers, writers and sports enthusiasts. We regard with pride our scholarship students who have successfully made the grade. To top it all, the class is active in all of the school organizations. Without our whole-hearted support many a dance would have been left in mid-air.

"Art for art's sake" is our creed, meaning that we intend to endow our modern environment with a little lighthearted amusement that makes life worth living. There is just another year to complete before we shall have our one big opportunity to prove ourselves worthy of our dear old alma mater. It shall be a happy, hectic year of development that shall suddenly present us to the final judge—the big cruel world.

TEACHER TRAINING III

Three years are behind us—three years filled with glowing memories of happy times and with righteous satisfaction of the knowledge of work well done.

Socially this last has been a big year. At one time or another, all of us have served on a committee for a tea, dinner, or party. All of us participated in the dinner which we gave for the department in the fall as well as at a tea given in honor of the faculty. This was the first time that such a tea has been given and it was so successful that we will do all in our power to make it a frequent occurrence.

Now that we have completed these three years, we are all turning our attentions to the fourth and last year. Will it be as fine as the preceding years? Or will it be finer? During each year that we have been here, we have grown in fullness and richness as we have lived them for we are learning to give part of ourselves to life as a whole. The fourth year ought to be the crowning glory of our stay at Pratt—for as much as we give—we receive.

TEACHER TRAINING II

A class history always reminds us of an epitaph of the past and having learned from its follies we use it as a stepping stone to future success and happiness. As a unit we are like a deck of cards—there are a few aces and some deuces—some first raters and some second raters, but in the end we will all come out on top as a slightly decimated but uniform group. Still we will have our traditions behind us, and our future as educators before us.

This year brought us many surprises. We discovered that we were to be here for four years rather than three, and were presented with a delightful new program and more instructors to help us along the road. Our members have been assigned to three places for their practice teaching, namely, Saturday classes at Pratt and the Brooklyn Museum and at varying times throughout the week in public schools where they have an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with existing conditions.

A number from our class have distinguished themselves in the field of sports, Mr. Roman and Mr. Walter on the Swimming team and Mr. Mardy on the Basketball team. Our social life has not been neglected although at times assignments were piled sky high. The class dinners have been a success and there will be more to follow. These social functions have brought the students and faculty closer together.

We will look fondly back on these hard and hectic but glorious years of our youth which we will have spent so profitably at Pratt. Years which can never again be met except from a grinding position which in the near future will develop as one of the learned professions that guide and inspire youth helping to lessen the tremendous weight on their shoulders. We hope with the grace of God we can meet our expectations.

TEACHER TRAINING I

A hopeful group of future teachers was ushered into Pratt in September nineteen thirty-five. Our first gathering was in Memorial Hall where we were advised by Mr. Boudreau as to what our aims and ideals should and would be as members of the student body. We became quickly acquainted with our supervisor, teachers, and the building.

Our social life began early with the "Howdy" dance and was followed by a teacher training supper conducted by the third-year class. At this gathering the dramatic ability of the class was brought forth in a production which added to the general entertainment of all. We were present at another teacher training supper this time given by the second-year students. Two of our classmates have been on the Prattonia Board. Our class organization began early with the election of officers and functioned smoothly throughout the year. At mid-term our ranks were augmented by four new members who added their support to the co-operation which has predominated the class throughout the school year.

Our class is looking forward to the remaining three years at Pratt, and hope that they all will carry with them as enjoyable memories as did the first one.

JUNIOR COSTUME DESIGN

The students of Junior Costume Design, during the past year have produced very commendable work. The advice of the faculty and the Senior Costume Design has been of material benefit to the class in helping us to attain perfection in fashion design. The patience of Miss Spidell in teaching us to draw the fashion figure has been appreciated by the entire class. Under the supervision of Miss Tuck, many of the problematical details, which were so difficult at first, have been made easily understandable. Miss Darrow and Miss Winters, by their instruction in design have made the class high competitors of the Art School. Miss Hannard's competent and sympathetic teaching of the art of construction and drafting has been most helpful.

The class has produced many athletes of first rank. We won the championship for the volley-ball season, and many are participating in the spring exhibitions.

The class, made up of eighty girls, was divided into four groups. At first this seemed a barrier in making friendship, yet by all working for a common ideal, strangers have become friends and the Junior Costume Design class has become an outstanding unit of Pratt Institute.

JUNIOR DIETETICS

Our class of one hundred and twenty entered the doors of Pratt Institute on September the ninth, nineteen hundred and thirty-five. We were eager to gain all the knowledge offered to us that we might build the necessary foundation for our future careers.

Mr. Howe, our director, spoke to us that first day in Memorial Hall and explained that our program would be an intensive one, but if we worked hard and earnestly, and sailed a true course, our ship would reach its port. That first day was a sensational one. We realized that now we were really standing on the first step which led to a definite future.

Since then we have discovered that our program was just as intensive as our supervisor had pictured it to be. We have been saturated with chemistry, cookery, physiology, and nutrition. We have been united by the bond of fellowship and love for our work.

We look forward to our next year with pleasure. The thrill of being enviable Seniors! By then we will surely have absorbed the ideals that make education worth while. We are determined to make our instructors proud of us. We have laden our ship with ambition, enthusiasm, love, and tolerance. We are certain that with the helping hand of our supervisors and teachers we will reach our port with flags flying.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING II

When we returned to school in September we found to our consternation that our class had been divided into four sections and was now composed of students from the three engineering courses. This condition which was at first looked upon as a necessary evil, proved to be an invaluable experience and supplement to our studies. We learned the value of associating with students having an aim in life similar to our own, but who were taking diverse paths in the desire to achieve this goal. Through these intimate associations many warm and lasting friendships were made which will still be fresh in our minds and warm in our hearts long after the distinction between the various Engineering Courses have grown dim.

In January of this year we were again brought together in one section composed entirely of Chemical students and thereafter settled down to an intensive study of Chemical Engineering. Keeping in mind our first year now, to be the class of greatest endeavor in the history of the School of Science and Technology.

In the field of athletics we were represented in all sports by teams composed of first and second year men. The fact that we won the Baseball Championship and finished second in the Basketball and Soccer tournaments gives us just cause to feel proud.

Our degree of rejoicing at the completion of a happy and successful school year has been greatly lessened by the serious illness, which has forced the withdrawal from school of our first class President, Kenneth Mac Ready.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING I

On September 10, 1935, a group of young men destined to be known as the Class of 1938 in Industrial Chemical Engineering, assembled in Room 23 of the Chem Building. We were heartily welcomed by Dr. Rogers, our Supervisor, who gave us worthwhile advice in regard to what is expected of us at Pratt.

Our first activity was the election of class officers. Although we were unacquainted at the time, and had had very little opportunity to judge the merits of each member of the class, those whom we selected have done all that has been asked of them in most commendable fashion.

The class has entered into school activities enthusiastically. Chemical Engineering I and II combined forces in soccer and basketball in both of which sports our men performed valiantly. The teams won most of their games and missed championships only by the scantiest of margins. Unfortunately our record in bowling does not compare with those of the other sports. Few of the men have had much experience which has been a considerable handicap.

Even though our part in school life has not been spectacular, we Chemical Engineers feel certain that we are going to play an ever more important role in its affairs. As recipients of the traditions of class solidarity and public spirit which are the peculiar heritage of the Chemists, we feel marked for distinction.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING II

Like most students entering a new institution it took quite a while to accustom ourselves to the rules and regulations. Having mastered these it was not long before the presence of I. E. E. '37 was felt in intramural activities.

The soccer season started early in the fall term providing little time for team organization. With the advantage of freshman enthusiasm for new worlds to conquer, a motley team was assembled. It was raw enthusiasm, rather than skill, that rolled up a surprising number of victories. As the season closed our tenacious team squeezed into the semi-finals, and tied for first place. With many of these same stalwarts the basketball and baseball teams waged hard, close games.

Beginning last fall, the enlargement of the school course from two to three years upset our athletic balance. First and second year teams combined in all sports. It was not long before our full strength was acknowledged by our competitors. The soccer season moved on with an increasing list of victories. The inspired team increased its efforts until the last and mightiest of the contenders, the third year Mechanicals, bit the dust. The championship was ours with all its glory.

The basketball and baseball teams driven by this example are working overtime to keep up our prestige.

Our class is taking full advantage of the addition to the School of Science and Technology building which comprises nine classrooms and a modernly equipped auditorium.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING I

The class of 1938 was first assembled on September 10, 1935, to receive a cordial welcome to the Institute from the course supervisor Mr. Cook. Following his recommendations, a class meeting was called for the purpose of electing officers and getting our organization under way. Since it seemed advisable to operate on a predetermined financial plan, a budget was formulated and accepted by a majority of the members at the following meeting.

The question of keeping everyone informed of current activities at first presented some difficulty due to our division into five separate sections. The appointment of a representative from each group to convey announcements and control the business of the section proved to be an adequate solution.

We are proud of the part our members are taking in the school's activities. Our Prattonia representative, Athletic Council representative, and the two members of the staff of the Electrical Echo have done their work consistently and well. In athletics we are represented on the Varsity Basketball and Baseball teams. The classes of '37 and '38 combined their forces to form the Soccer team which now holds the interclass championship.

The individual interest taken in us by our instructors and the attitude of friendship shown by the upper classes have made our first year a most progressive and enjoyable one.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERING II

We are now two thirds of the way through our course at Pratt Institute, and are looking forward to becoming seniors when we shall begin our optional work in Mechanical Engineering. In September the class returned to continue the old fight once again, and have had a most enjoyable and successful year.

Our class was again well represented in school activities of all kinds. In athletics several of our members were outstanding in varsity basketball and baseball, and in the interclass competition our teams fought many hard and close battles in an effort to retain the titles won the previous year.

The outstanding contribution of the class to the social life at Pratt were the KC-10 Club, a new organization whose every meeting was a tremendous hit with each and every member.

The Mechanicals dance, held in Memorial Hall April 6, was well attended and a success in every sense of the word. Although it was one of the last flings of the year, it was considered one of the best dances held during the winter season.

Now that the present school year is drawing to a close we are anxiously looking forward to September when we shall again enter the open doors of Pratt Institute, but this time as seniors to reap the benefits of being the second third-year class to graduate.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERING I

The day of September 10, 1935, saw seventy-two prospective engineers start a new chapter in the great annals of Pratt. The I. M. E. '38's had arrived to fight the uphill struggle with the technological "buggaboos" and white-shoe prohibitionists that lurked within the S. & T. gates.

A bit baffled at first, they soon found out through various teas and smokers the ways of the Institute, and then settled down to becoming a part of the surroundings from which they were to gather so many social and educational benefits. The class officers were elected and the budget determined. Throughout all their activities the spirit of co-operation was paramount.

In athletics the class was prominent. Although the spirited soccer team was not too successful, the basketball and bowling teams emulated the best in either league. The swimming and baseball squads are potentially first rate and unless weakened by drafts for varsity material, the top should be their limit.

The pins and emblems have been procured. Our dance, to be combined with that of the second and third year men, is looked forward to. The first year has been a great success and we face the remaining two years with high hopes and expectations.

THE SOCIAL SWING

STUDENT COUNCIL

CHARLES S. ALTEMUS

President

LUCILLE M. FALCON

Vice-President

JOHN H. ASHMEAD

Secretary-Treasurer

This year the Student Council had undertaken a more ambitious program than ever before. They have tried to co-ordinate all the various social and recreational activities of the four schools. This was accomplished by keeping each school posted on the coming activities in all the other schools.

The Council members first met at the annual social held at the Women's Club early in October. At that time the President outlined the program for the year, and asked that the members be present and punctual at all meetings in order that this program might be carried out in full and on schedule.

Early in November the Prattonia Board was elected by the Council from a list of names solicited by the class presidents. At that time it was suggested that the Prattonia Board for the year 1936-37 be elected in the spring in order that the new board might be able to start work early in the fall. For the second year in succession the Council sponsored an afternoon dance for the benefit of the Red Cross. It proved to be very successful, and the gross receipts were turned over to the Red Cross fund. We earnestly hope that this dance will become an annual affair for the Student Councils of the future.

The Council drew up a new constitution which will govern future organizations of the Councils, and replace the constitution which had become obsolete. This step had been planned for three years but had not been completed until now. Under these new governing rules the Student Council was given the power to supervise all open informal dances given by the Institute classes.

Plans for the Senior Prom are now under way, and that annual event to be late in May promises to be bigger and better than ever. The Council also plans to sponsor an evening dance to be held early in the spring for all members of the Institute. This dance is given by the Council to express its appreciation to the students for their co-operation during the year.

The spring boat ride for members of the Council will close the activities of an excellent year. We extend hearty good wishes to the officers and members of the incoming Council, and hope that they will have a happy and successful year during 1936-37.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the graduating classes of Pratt Institute, June, 1936, being of sound mind and body (is there a psychiatrist in the house?) but being of such advanced age as to suggest a near approach of feeble mindedness do make, this, our last will and testament, which we desire all people to respect for the import which it holds.

Article I. To all undergraduates in the Art School, we, the graduating classes, do bequeath:

1. A two way elevator for faster service.
2. A little heat in the school.
3. Eight pairs of bags under the eyes to the Teacher Training students.
4. All future issues of Vogue and Harper's to the Fashion students. The graduates are going in for Good Housekeeping.
5. All $50 jobs to undergraduate advertising students. The seniors are busy with the $100 jobs.
6. To Mr. Moschowitz, a box of indefinite half tones from the Pictorial class.
7. To the young Industrial Designers and Interior Decorators, all their ambition, or lack of it, from the seniors.
8. To the Fashion classes, all the extra stools from the pictorial Illustrators. They take them anyhow.
9. The old fight, to everyone. We're tired.

Article II. To all undergraduates in the H. S. & A. School, we, the graduating classes, do bequeath:

1. The good food left at 12:15 P.M.
2. Permanent walking slips to eliminate gym work.
3. Rest periods every half hour.
4. To Mr. Howe, a telescope to spot sleeping seniors.
5. To Miss Feeney, a 49¢ Pattie bought at Barnes and Noble.
6. To Miss Zich, the juniors—so she may put them on "straight grain."
7. To Miss Winters, the lovely dummies, to remind her of us.
8. A class over in the Engineering School.
9. To the junior presidents, a few more gray hairs from the senior presidents.

10. Our loving teachers, to all juniors, with the hope that they will always be as sedate and conscientious as we have been—oops!

Article III. To all graduates in the S. & T. Schools, we, the graduating classes, do bequeath:

1. Holidays equal to the Art School's.
2. Girls to serve refreshments every afternoon at two.
3. Bouncing beakers in the Chem. Lab.
4. Anything but Chaucer.
5. Transparent window panes in the balance room (the better to see the Art School).
6. No Mech. experiments with more than 200 calculations.
7. Automatic slide rules.
8. The privilege of staying up all night on design problems.
9. To the Mechs. and Electricals, odorless H₂S.
10. Our regular place in front of the Art School at noon and four o'clock. (And don't ever let an Artsman get your girl.)

In proof of this, our final say, we set our hand and seal, this balmy day of May 1936.

Signed: The graduating classes of Pratt Institute.

SOCIAL

September . . . Set the top on its axis, give it a whirl and away we spin along the social way. First came the Art School reception where teachers and art students met and mingled and the engineers attempted to crash. October . . . During the crisp days, the Artsmen, Architects and Paletteers gave their afternoon "Howdy" dance for the new students to become acquainted and for the old ones to renew friendships. This was on October eighth.

Then October eighteenth, the Chemists, always the first to score on an evening dance, really began the social night life at Pratt. The dance was happily successful.

October fifteenth, the senior Dietitians gave a tea for the juniors. This is an age old custom in the H. S. & A. school and always makes a great hit. For what is closer to a woman's heart than a cup of tea, a woman to chatter with, and other women there to talk about.

The Paletteers began the novelty dances of the year when they brought all the colleges to Pratt the night of October twenty-fifth. Recreation Hall flaunted the banners of well known colleges at the "All American" dance, and murals depicting students doings adorned the walls. Rah! Rah! for a collegiate evening.

November . . . On November twenty-second, the Artsmen came along with their "Club 36." The decorations were lavishly planned and skillfully rendered. Everyone marveled at the lighting effects and the New York skyline on the murals.

November twenty-sixth, the Student Council ran their Red Cross dance in the afternoon, the profits of which were turned over to that noble organization. As always the students responded well and a tidy sum was made.

December . . . The Christmas month inspired the big Christmas party given by the Art School. A laughing good time was had in Memorial Hall, with Jimmie Chambers as Santa and Peg Le Grand as the Missus. Presents poking fun were distributed to the teachers much to everyone's amusement. Later, all trooped down to Recreation Hall where they danced around the Christmas tree and sucked candy canes in true holiday spirit.

January . . . January eleventh came the Junior Costume Design dance which proved very entertaining with good music and a good crowd.

February . . . Senior Diets brought the "Leap Year" dance to school February fifteenth. We wonder how many gals proposed under its influence. It was a lot of fun and all the schools turned out for a leap year celebration.

SPIN

February nineteenth, the Junior Diets responded to the tea and gave the Senior Diets an afternoon tea dance. It was an entertaining and pleasant two hours.

March . . . As Prattonia needs must go to press early in March, it is impossible to cover the remaining social events, but we can give you a fairly comprehensive list of what is scheduled to happen.

The Wohler Chemical Society will give its annual formal evening dance in the near future for the Chemists exclusively. This dance is always a fine success and the pride of the society.

Some time in April the Architects plan to run a dance. Their affairs are always unusual in ideas, and from what we hear the "builder uppers" have expectations of even greater things this year.

The S. & T. Alumni Day review will be happening along in the spring. The schools will go through their athletic competitions and put on crazy skits over at the athletic field. Old alumni trot around the field following a band and feeling very high. In the evening comes the dance. There is no doubt that Alumni Day this year is going to be one of the very best.

The Art Alumni, this year planned a series of entertainments that were highly creditable. During the week of February twenty-fourth, dinners were given at the Frances Bell Inn for the Alumni and graduating students.

March third a big rally was held in Recreation Hall where graduating students, alumni and faculty gathered. They are to be congratulated on this fine program.

And now as the season draws to an end, and seniors prepare for graduation, the air is filled with thoughts of the Senior Prom. It is going to be an unusual success this year, we feel sure, because we are celebrating the first third year class of the engineers to graduate. The Senior Promenade is always a delightful evening, with a charm and distinction all its own. The students dance away their last school fling to glorious music in a grand ball-room, and mingle with the faculty in this parting tribute to themselves. There is always something extremely gay yet sweetly sad about this, the final chapter in the seniors' social career at Pratt. They can be sure the memories of this year's Prom will be as fine as they could wish for because the committee is devoting every minute in insuring a most elaborate evening.

So, as thoughts of the Senior Prom pass by, our social top spins less and less and is due to stop, for the summer months are looming ahead and the wanderlust urge is growing in our blood. It is farewell to 1935-36, the spin was an exciting and happy one.

ARTSMEN

ANTHONY NAIDEN	President
WILLIAM LUSTENADER	Vice-President
ALEXANDER RIMASH	Secretary
RICHARD VAN HEUSEN	Treasurer
HAROLD LEIFER	Publicity
ROBERT FOLKES
EDWARD HOFFMAN	Educational
ARTHUR PEARSON
ARTHUR VAN DELFT	Social

The high standard of the Artsmen developed in former years has been upheld in both educational and social functions. The annual "Howdy" dance held in conjunction with the Paletteers and Architects opened the social season. This was followed by a series of afternoon dances and a very successful "Club '36 Dance." Much credit for the success of this dance is to be given to our social chairman, Arthur Van Delft, and the untiring efforts of our publicity team, Harold Leifer and Robert Folkles.

The educational program of the organization took form in lectures and exhibitions by noted advertisers, illustrators and designers.

In closing we extend to the officers for 1937 hearty best wishes for a year of success in upholding the ideals of this organization.

PALETTEERS

DISA NILSON	President
LUCILLE FALCON	Vice-President
RUTH STECK	Secretary
JEAN THOMPSON	Social Rep.
WINIFRED NELSON	Advertising Mgr.
MARGARET GABY	Business Mgr.
DOROTHY MC MAHON	Exhibit Mgr.

The Paletteers launched the school year of 1935-'36 with the "Howdy" dance for all of the incoming students. As usual, the dance was attended with enthusiasm, which encouraged social events in rapid succession.

On October 25, we presented the "All-American Dance," a success accredited to the decoration committee, and the patronage of the art students.

A spirit of friendship and co-operation has developed through the greater part of this school year. We feel sure that all Paletteers are eagerly looking forward to the annual Paletteers' banquet in the near future, not to exclude the boat ride and a series of interesting lectures and exhibits now being planned.

ARCHITECTS

EDWIN CHAMBERLAIN	President
JEROME SHEFFIELD	Secretary
ARTHUR WAREHAM	Treasurer

This organization, made up of the three classes in the department of architecture, has had a very active year.

The social season started off with a smoker and a "Howdy" dance to help the new students get acquainted. Our evening dance this year was a great success and carried on the traditions of the architects as offering something new and novel.

Our annual banquet was held in the Pratt cafeteria, with several very prominent men of the profession as guest speakers.

In sports, the true sportsmanship of the architects has carried all the way through even though we have not had any outstanding teams.

The year as a whole has been a very successful one and will be long remembered by all.

A R T I S A N S

HAZEL L. HOWLAND	President
NINA P. YASKEVICH	Vice-President
FRANCES L. GREENWALD	Secretary-Treasurer
HELEN B. COGGESHALL	Social Committee
ELOISE S. WHITLOCK	Executive Committee

The Artisan's Club was organized in 1928 for the purpose of bringing the students of the Dressmaking and Costume Design classes into closer contact with the conditions and requirements of business.

At regular intervals, we hold teas at the Women's Club at which our guest speakers include both graduates holding responsible positions and representatives from different fields related to Costume Design.

These meetings, we believe, give the students a wider knowledge of their profession than is gained in the classroom.

HOME ECONOMICS

MISS JANET MOFFAT	President
ELINOR MOODY	Vice-President
KATHERINE FERRITER	Treasurer
DORIS STEPHENSON	Secretary
MISS CONDIT	Adviser

The Home Economics Club has had another successful year. The principle aims have been to affiliate the club at Pratt more closely with the other Home Economic Clubs in the state and nation, and to increase the range of activities.

The high school clubs were entertained at the annual fall tea with an exceptionally large group in attendance. Further attempt has been made to unite the college clubs through an advisory board. The Pratt group gave a tea in February for the colleges of greater New York. Mrs. Hoeg, adviser of the city school clubs, and Miss Weber, President of the college group, were present to discuss plans for the state convention. Our club was pleased to assist at the convention in New York and derived much good from it.

DIETITIANS

BLANCHE LATHAM	President
PRISCILLA PINCKNEY	Vice-President
ELIZABETH J. BLEE	Secretary-Treasurer
JESSIE LEVINE	Chairman, Program Committee

The year 1935-36 of the Dietetics Club has been one to be remembered by all those connected with it. The club has been the means of bringing before the students and faculty some of the most distinguished authorities in the Dietetics Field. Among the speakers heard during the year were Dr. Henry C. Sherman, of Columbia University; Miss Lulu Graves, consulting dietitian, Miss Edith Beuber, Food Editor of the N. Y. Sun; and Dr. Mary S. Rore, of Teachers College, Columbia University. The Senior class has co-operated by having Foreign Dinners following our meetings at which our speakers were guests.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GERTRUDE WILSON President
HILDA GEBELE Vice-President
THERESEA KOZLOWSKI Secretary

The girls of Pratt Institute have spent many pleasant hours at the Women's Club. At noon there always was a rush and clamor for tables in the tea room and a general hustle bustle and clatter of pots and pans in the kitchen. The monthly get-together dinners with fine entertainment, the garden parties, the Candle Light Teas at which delicious refreshments were served and interesting games enjoyed, and the friendly parties that bring together students of all schools were greatly appreciated. The girls proved their deep appreciation for the home privileges allowed them by the constant use of, and the respect for the sewing room, the reading room, with all the latest magazines, and the reception rooms with the radio and piano, and opportunities for dancing and games.

All the club activities are made more attractive by the competent guidance and friendly hospitality of Miss Owens.

MEN'S CLUB

OLIVER VAN DYCK	Chairman
MICHAEL STEVENS	Secretary
PHILIP MAC LEAN	} Clerks
RAYMOND MC DONALD
EDWARD REYNOLDS

The Men's Club has offered means of bringing into closer association students of the Art and S & T schools.

Bowling and pool are the featured recreational sports of the club, and many of the students have spent their moments of leisure amusing themselves at either of these sports. The tournaments conducted at the club were interesting and enjoyable to all the participants.

The spacious and well equipped reading rooms have also been enjoyed and appreciated by many.

As always in the past, the Men's Club has faithfully served as the recreational center for the men of the Institute.

PRATT INSTITUTE BRANCH OF AMER- ICAN INSTITUTE OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

JOHN B. STACK Chairman
OTTO H. NAUMAN Vice-Chairman
CLARENCE G. NORBERG Secretary
CHARLES W. DEMING Treasurer

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Pratt Branch, is successfully guarding the honor granted to it by the parent organization, that of being the only three-year school to have a student branch.

The purpose of the organization is to encourage the presentation of student papers, to conduct interesting and educational inspection trips, and to bring to the Institute important speakers of renown in the technical field.

The Student Branch is the largest A.I.E.E. student organization in the metropolitan area, and possibly the largest in the East.

The organization wishes to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Clifford C. Carr, the branch counselor and instructor in electrical technology, for his more than active interest in behalf of the A.I.E.E.

WOHLER SOCIETY

JOHN J. HUGHES, JR.	President
RAYMOND S. MCDONALD	Vice-President
EDWAIN L. KINKAIDE	Secretary
LEON A. MENZL	Treasurer
DR. ALLEN E. ROGERS	Supervisor

The Wohler Society's activities for the school year 1935-36 were opened by a welcome smoker for the new members. The regular monthly meetings, held at the Men's Club were well attended, and gave rise to a real spirit of friendship and co-operation both between the students themselves and between the instructors and students. The meetings presented prominent men in the Chemical Industries field to the students. The discussions were both educational and interesting.

The annual formal dance in April was voted by all as the best ever held by the society. The season's activities were brought to a close by a banquet, held at the Chemists Club in New York.

N. W. MacKENZIE

Faculty Adviser

In the third year of its existence the Sons and Brothers Club of the Science and Technology School has seen a tremendous growth in various channels. The enlargement of the membership (due to three complete classes of the new three year course) has done much to stimulate interest in the organization and to create interest in all of the school's activities in which they could be of any assistance. The Sons and Brothers Club officiated during the year, at Alumni Day and at all of the schools open house days.

This year the A. S. M. E. is composed of the regular student section along with the automotive and aeronautics branches. An attempt was made this year to hold the meetings along the lines of the parent society, the presentation of student papers, discussions and talks on various subjects by guest speakers being the main topics. During the annual convention of the parent society held in New York, personal contact was made with the older members of the society, giving the student members a new insight of present day engineering problems. One of the most interesting trips taken during the year was the inspection of the new French super-liner, Normandie. Members of the society also participated in the annual Student Regional Convention held this year at Lafayette College. In conclusion it may be stated that the student has derived great personal benefit from the activities herein.

INTIMATE INTERVIEWS

Editor's note: The object of these intimate interviews that actually occurred, is to prove to you that the average Pratt student is a versatile individual, not burying himself in his own field of endeavor, but possessing a broader vision on life in general. From the following answers we believe you will gather what we mean. All names are omitted by request.

Question: Do you go to Pratt?

Answers: Artsman "Who, me?"; Paletteer "Glad you told me"; Architect "Excuse me?"; Engineer "That's where I spend my time"; Librarian "In a rather distant way"; Dietitian "More or less."

Question: Do you take your work seriously?

Answers: Artsman "On week-ends"; Paletteer "It depends upon the work"; Architect "Well—er——"; Engineer "The instructors think so"; Librarian "Naturally, I love books"; Dietitian "That's food for thought—pun, pun."

Question: Are you of any particular political party?

Answers: Artsman "I'm a communist—I can't read or write, but I like red"; Paletteer "Yes, I like parties"; Architect "I'm a P.W.A."; Engineer "Depends upon how fast the party is"; Librarian "Republican"; Dietitian "I'm not partial."

Question: Do you believe dates during the week affect your school work?

Answers: Artsman "Figs upset my stomach"; Paletteer "What school work?"; Architect "You should see my work"; Engineer "No"; Librarian "I don't care for dates"; Dietitian "Oh no, my dates like my work."

Question: If you had it to do all over again what would you choose to be?

Answers: Artsman "A millionaire"; Paletteer "Married"; Architect "Probably a breaker downer instead of a builder uppper"; Engineer "Romeo"; Librarian "A chorus girl"; Dietitian "A chicken dinner."

Question: Do you think it's better to be a man or a woman in this world?

Answers: Artsman "Yes"; Paletteer "Both"; Architect "What world?"; Engineer "I think so"; Librarian "A woman"; Dietitian "Hm?"

Question: Who do you think is the most popular girl (or boy) around school?

Answers: Artsman "The checker-inner"; Paletteer "Joe, the elevator boy"; Architect "They're all alike"; Engineer "I won't commit myself"; Librarian "Mr. Pratt"; Dietitian "Mr. How—and how."

Question: Why do some men wear a combination of two different suits at once?

Answers: Artsman "I was the friend who brought the dollar"; Paletteer "Probably to look like Pratt students"; Architect "That's all that's left"; Engineer "I don't"; Librarian "We wouldn't know"; Dietitian "Maybe they spilt gravy on the old part."

Question: Who is the person in school closest to your ideal?

Answers: Artsman "Miss Everest"; Paletteer "Stupid—Mr. Adjootian's statue"; Architect "What ideals?"; Engineer "EH"; Librarian "Rasputin"; Dietitian "A man who can cook."

Question: What do you think of Brooklyn?

Answers: Artsman "Huh?"; Paletteer "I don't think"; Architect "Need ask?"; Engineer "All right as a hole"; Librarian "You must take the bitter with the sweet"; Dietitian (The gestures made can not be put into words).

DICK THOMPSON . . . Business manager with a blush and a faint odor of perfume about him. We hope he got it from the chem. lab. He's a finer taker carer of finances despite his youth. During intervals when he isn't busy with his books, he muses over all the things he could do with Prattonia's money . . . has some pretty good ideas too. Have heard it rumored that he is Hartford's leading citizen and future mayor since he made such a success as a money collector. Anyway Prattonia recommends him seeings as how we made the grade in full glory this year.

BEN YORK . . . Whom all students should salaam (I didn't say slam). For two years he has given his best in a job that is exacting and difficult. Both times he has proven himself far above the average in his position as Editor-in-Chief of the book. This year he is satisfied because through his efforts Prattonia has paid for itself. Ben is the happy blending of so many fine qualities we have neither the space nor the words to sing his praises loudly enough. Suffice to say that the board and representatives who have worked with him, respect him as a leader and admire him as a fellow student.

ED. HOFFMAN . . . Combination of executive, artist and cook par excellence. As an executive he can assume the role any old time. Let him get an inkling that work isn't going right and he is there with an authoritative air. As an artist too, he has big ideas. Look to the book for proof that he is ahead of the times in the whole construction. As a cook, we hear he bakes the things mother used to make. But you boys and girls who have loved good old Prattonia as we do, should lay your thanks at Eddie's feet for the most unusual layout in year-books ever to be printed.

VIRGINIA PAGE . . . who has the unromantic job of chasing for commas, and crossing out bad words is a typical literary editor. There is something about all of them that reveals the literary inclination a mile off. We like her because she refrains from using big words, but still has that efficient, distinctive air about her. And considering the tough job she has handled so capably, we think she is all of that and more. She is to be especially commended because this is her first year at Pratt, and she is already hitting a fine stride. By her fourth year she will probably be doing Prattonia single handed.

LOU FALCON . . . nerves—blues—headaches—business ability, and that artistic touch (with a little sugar) make up one of Prattonia's most active and ambitious Social Editors, (super excellent social slave supreme). Her social section is quite as lively and interesting as herself and, (is she lively) talk to Lou when someone shouts and you'll find yourself facing a pair of empty shoes. Loves to pound a typewriter far into the wee hours of the morning, and then find that she has typed too much—Oh, that headache. The sky wouldn't be such a cold blue if that warm Alabama sun shone here. Lou's friendly front foresees a fashionable future.

ATHLETICS

ATHLETIC FOREWORD

Sports and Athletics have been and continue to be, a tremendously significant feature of American life. Our people of all ages and in all walks of life find in these activities inspiration for finer and more effective living. Our schools almost without exception have adopted programs of sports as integral and important phases of their educational project. Millions beyond the school age are turning to sports in recognition of their contributions to health and joy of living.

Pratt Institute holds with the idea that its function is not that of filling a station where students after a few years can acquire the requisite information necessary to graduate, but rather that it is a training ground where students and instructors alike may gain experience in wiser and better living. Athletics offer unusual opportunity for the development of habits, attitude, and ideals making toward sound character. I am convinced that participation in our athletic program contributes not only to the physical well being of those concerned but is instrumental in the development of such personality and character traits as poise, confidence, self control, and courage.

The program of Athletics at Pratt varies little from year to year. This is due to the fact that the sports which we conduct are well established, maintain continued interest, and give opportunity for athletic competition to a maximum number of students under existing conditions.

The athletic program for the year opened with interclass soccer. The championship in this sport was won by the second year Electricals led by captain Rivera. With the advent of three year courses in the School of Science and Technology, involving more teams, longer schedules have been necessary. At the present writing the championships in basketball, swimming and bowling have not been determined.

The following pages give a more detailed account of the records and achievements in interclass and varsity athletics.

Athletics is governed by a group of students known as the Athletic Council, founded in the year of 1922 to regulate all men's interclass sports. It is the object of the council to raise the standard of athletics, and to provide a varied program of the highest order so that all those classes interested may participate.

Under the able guidance of the faculty advisers it has gained much more attention from the students than in previous years. All disagreements and protests made on the athletic field are brought to the council by the class representatives, and are thoroughly discussed before they are settled by this body.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The 1935-'36 basketball season was a very successful one for Pratt. With the incoming of very good material and the excellent coaching of Mr. McKillop, popularly called "Mac," the team this year has set the best record in the school's history. The previous record was ten wins and four losses, and this year's was eleven wins and three losses. Another jinx was broken by the team when they journeyed to Boston to play and beat Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the Coast Guard Academy. Previous Pratt teams had not won an away game for over a period of five years.

The success of the team was largely due to the stalwart playing of Captain Johnnie Mardy, Howie Havemeyer, Nick Zuraw, Monte Levin, Sam Gilman, John Sherlock, and "Shorty" Mangani. Levin, Mangani, Zuraw and Sherlock are all first year men, and their performance for Pratt in the next two years will be something worth watching. A valuable asset of the team is "Shorty" Mangani, whose spirit and zest is felt by all his team-mates. He is the little spark plug of the team. Sherlock, who stands six feet three inches, was undoubtedly one of the important reasons why Pratt's season was so successful.

The most fortunate thing for us is that the entire Pratt record breaking team will be back to perform again next year, and end with a clean slate without any losses, we hope. Levin, Sherlock, Mangani, Zuraw and Mardy have two years yet to play, while Havemeyer and Gilman have but one. The coming year is going to be better than the last, say the boys.

Springfield College—27

Pratt—20

The first game of the season resulted in a loss for Pratt. After leading at the half time mark by 11-10, Pratt was unable to sustain its pace and the Indians swept on to victory.

Newark College of Engineering—20 Pratt—43

After losing the first game of the season, Pratt returned to the spotlight by defeating Newark by a score of 43 to 20. Mangani and Sherlock repeatedly carried the ball through the opponents' territory, and were high scorers with ten points each, while they were pressed close by Mardy and Levin who made eight points each.

Seth Low—23

Pratt—35

Captain Johnny Mardy led his team into a sensational upset by heading off the opponents in the first period. Holding them in their place until the fourth quarter, Pratt advanced to a high score and left old Seth Low six baskets behind.

State Teachers—27

Pratt—40

Scoring 17 of the 40 points, Captain Mardy led his team to victory at the Pratt gymnasium. Taking a substantial lead during the first half, coasting was all that was necessary to finish the game on the high end of the score.

Alumni—22

Pratt—25

The traditional return of the Alumni resulted in another victory for Pratt. With a lead of 15-6 in the first half Pratt continued scoring without difficulty and set an example of how basketball should be played.

Rensselaer—27

Pratt—39

For the fifth consecutive victory of the season Pratt easily defeated Rensselaer. With Sherlock leading the scoring with ten points, and Zuraw and Levin pressing close with nine each, Pratt was able to avenge last year's defeat. Rensselaer tried to come back in the last half, but our boys had too much of a lead and held them without much difficulty.

Columbia—39 Pratt—28

Pratt was outclassed at Columbia, and didn't stand a chance after the first few minutes of play when Columbia broke the 6-6 tie. Levin led the scoring with eight points, and Captain Johnnie Mardy was next with seven points to his credit.

Dickinson—26 Pratt—19

Suffering from a mid-season slump our boys lost their second consecutive game. Pratt fought hard, and outscored the Dickinson five in the second half, and despite their valorous efforts left the floor the loser by nine points.

Brooklyn Poly—27 Pratt—39

Snapping back into the winning column, our men were led to an easy victory over Poly Tech by Captain Mardy who scored 14 points of the total 39. Poly was unable to break up the smooth passing attack of the Pratt sharp shooters, and were on the small end of the 27 to 8 score at the end of the first half. Levin was second high scorer with eight points.

Lehigh—25 Pratt—41

With an abundance of pep, vim, and vigor, Pratt scored a victory over Lehigh before a crowd of five hundred sport enthusiasts. Zuraw, with an exceptional sense of distance slipped the ball through the net from all positions on the floor and brought to a reality the feats of Frank Merriwell's novels.

M. I. T.—25 Pratt—32

Captain Mardy and Nick Zuraw with seven points each led the scoring for the Pratt team. Although the Massachusetts team fought hard and crept up slowly during the last half, our lead of 21 to 8 at the end of the first half proved sufficient to win the game with a seven point margin.

Coast Guard Academy—20 Pratt—26

After a 12-12 tie at half time, Pratt took the lead and kept it throughout the rest of the game. Johnnie Mardy made his usual brilliant showing by scoring twelve of the twenty-six points.

Brooklyn Poly—24 Pratt—30

Closing its most successful season in the annals of the school, Pratt defeated Poly for the second time this year. Nick Zuraw and Sherlock lead the scoring for Pratt with seven points each—thus making this our tenth win in thirteen games.

VARSITY

JR. VARSITY

Our gold and black baseball team started off the 1935 season in the right way by defeating Stevens Institute to the tune of three to one, at Hoboken, New Jersey. Leo Pantas in his first game did well by pitching a four hit game, with no runs being scored after the fourth inning. Andy Marck, our captain and left fielder, singled in the eighth to drive in Barbieri and Gitlin with the deciding runs.

Wagner College came to the Pratt Bowl to defeat us by a score of nine to eight, after wiping out a six run lead. It was a free hitting game with Gitlin and Clark starring for Pratt.

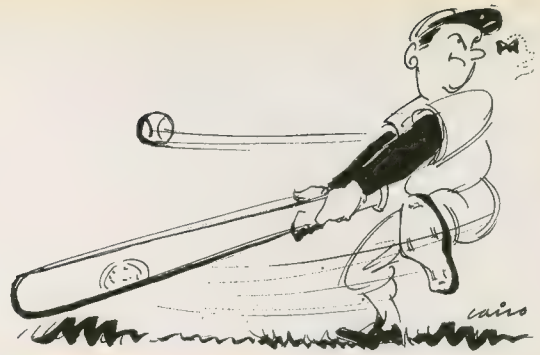

On venturing to Springfield College our boys were beaten by eighteen to two, despite the fact that they played hard and well. Continuing the trip down to Rhode Island, we were defeated by six to one. Although out hitting their opponents the Pratt team could not make their hits count and as a result only chalked up one run for their nine hits.

The next week Pratt returned to the winning column with an eight to four victory over Drew University. The big feature of the game was Pantas' spectacular home run with the bases loaded bringing in four runs.

Upon the hills of Staten Island in a game that was almost a replica of the first game with Wagner, Pratt was defeated in the last inning by the Wagnerites. Barbieri with four hits including two triples and Marck with a home run and two singles led the Pratt attack.

In a return game with Stevens,

Pratt had to play twelve innings before taking them for the second time this season, by a score of nine to eight. Zeale, the first man up smacked a home run to give us the lead.

In the next home game we took over Cathedral College by a score of eleven to one. With Bogart on the mound pitching an excellent game, and with a hard hitting attack, Pratt easily overran Cathedral.

On Alumni Day the old grads came down to see their favorites trimmed by fifteen to seven. Pratt came out from behind to wipe out a five run lead and smashed the offerings of the alumni pitcher for fifteen runs to gain an easy victory.

In our final game we stayed in the winning column by defeating Patterson State Normal twelve to three. Stankus, besides pitching a fine game made his victory surer by smashing out two home runs and Pantas connected again for another with the bases loaded.

Upon the conclusion of the season, Andy Marck was elected captain, and Shaw and Spraker were elected co-managers. This year we are anticipating a very strong team as all of last year's squad has returned with the exception of Clark.

CHEER LEADERS

The 1935-36 season opened with three new cheerleaders, "Dannie" Mason, "Connie" Gjobye and "Mimsey" Resnick. The old-timers consisting of "Howie" Burr, "Ed" Smith, and "Bill" Coiro were with us again, comprising a team of six.

The customary pep meetings were continued to familiarize the new students with the Pratt cheers.

We are indebted to the feminine element of the cheerleading team for the increased enthusiasm of the crowd at every game, and thanks are extended to the students for their fine support and spirit displayed during the season.

INTERCLASS BASEBALL

The interclass baseball championship was won by the Chemists. Although several of their stalwarts had graduated, the chemists put a strong team on the field and were able to meet and defeat all comers. With "Rabbit" Aluck on the mound and "Ben" York behind the plate, coupled with an infield of Cowles, Chelson, Schultz, Youngest and a hard hitting outfield of Zeitlin, Selby and Feldheim, we just couldn't miss.

The only hard games were with the Electrical and Architects.

The team owes a great deal of its success to their coach Dr. Mantell (Uncle Charlie), to their manager J. Chambers, and also to the class who cheered them on and made life miserable for their opponents.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL

The first year Mechanical team went through the season with but three defeats, two of them being at the hands of the first and second year Chemists, and the third at the hands of the third year Mechanicals during the play-off games.

The "boiler maker's" first and third year teams tied for the championship, and a three game play-off became necessary. In this the first year team won the first game, and then dropped the second to the third year men. However, they were able to stage a comeback in the third game to take the championship from last year's titleholders.

The team credits much of its success to their coach Mr. Schmidt.

BOXING 1935-36

The season started with an enthusiastic group of leather pushers showing up at the gym, and by the end of the year, although the group had thinned out somewhat, a number of the fellows had developed into good boxers.

This sport creates a feeling of well being and self-confidence and makes for better co-ordination of both the physical and mental faculties. Certainly it forms mind and temper restraint, rather than a desire to "Mix it" with anyone and everyone.

The object of the club is not, contrary to the popular opinion, to make professional fighters or even active amateurs, but rather to give the members an appreciation of the sport and in so doing give them something that will always be of value to them.

FENCING TEAM

Under the careful guidance of Coach Stevens the fencing squad of forty-eight turned out a team consisting of Captain Henry Baucili, Richard Gunn, and Walter Hortens.

Because of the inexperience of the team as a whole there were no matches arranged for this year, but the captain of the team under the personal guidance of Coach Stevens competed with men from other colleges.

The value of fencing as a sport may be shown by the fact that some members of the boxing team study fencing to speed up their reactions. The sport also develops grace and poise.

BIG PINS

The first year Mechanicals have again upheld the Mechanical tradition by winning the interclass bowling championship with only one defeat, and that by their fellow schoolmates, the second year Mechanicals.

The determination and skill of this team was displayed by the fact that it entered the schedule three weeks late with no practice whatsoever and conquered its rivals in such style as to end up with the bowling crown in its possession.

The last and deciding match was with the Architects who, after showing some excellent bowling were nosed out in the final game by a close margin of five pins by the first year Mechanicals.

DUCK PINS

Some one of the Mechanical classes have won this championship seven times in the last nine years, and it begins to look as though the title is a permanent fixture in the "boiler makers" department.

As we go to press the duck pin tournament has not been started and we are wondering if there will be a team this year that will be strong enough to break the Mechanicals' grip on the championship.

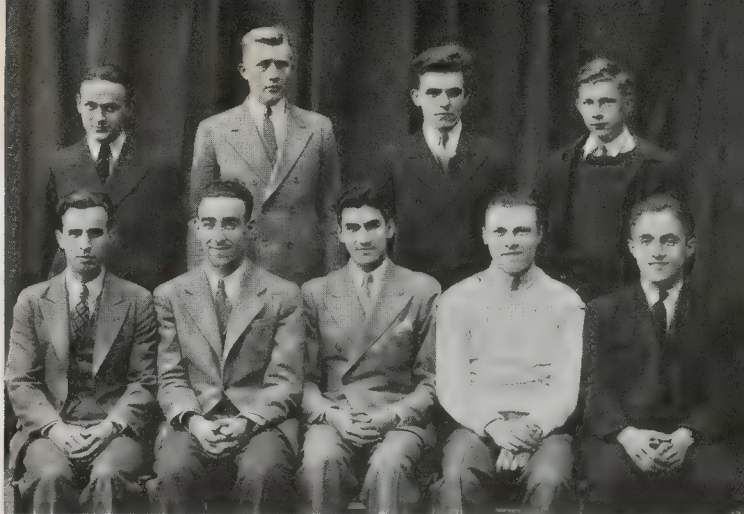

The Mechanicals seem to be the "fair haired child" of the bowling league, for in addition to their success with the duck pins they have already taken this year's big pin title.

INTERCLASS SOCCER

The interclass soccer championship went back this year to the Electricals, whose success was due in great part to their captain F. Rivera, a soccer enthusiast from the old country. His keen interest and understanding of the game was exemplified every time the team played.

The choice of men for the team was broader this season because this was the first time that both second and first year Electricals were combined as one team.

Captain Rivera is justified in feeling that his men will win the championship again next year, because he will have practically the same well organized and well managed team on the field.

SWIMMING

Due to the late starting of the interclass swimming meets, and the unusually early publishing of this year's Prattonia, we are unable to name or even predict the champions of this season.

Because of the short time left the races are to be run off differently this year than in previous seasons. The swimmers are to be timed and all races will be made against the clock.

Previous to 1934 the Artsmen took the championship for five consecutive seasons, but then the Electricals stepped in for one year, and last year the Mechanicals took the honors, so your guess is as good as ours as to this year's outcome.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR WOMEN

Miss A. P. Gilbert

Miss M. M. Barney

Miss A. J. Brady

The work of the Department of Physical Education for Women is divided into three seasons, Fall, Winter, and Spring. The Fall and Spring seasons are terminated with a tournament in the sports. At the end of the Winter season a demonstration of the work is held in the gymnasium.

In the Fall, the School of Household Science and Arts won both the Volley Ball and Hockey tournaments, but were defeated in the Swimming Meet by the School of Fine and Applied Arts.

The scores for the tournaments follow:

During the Winter term clubs in dancing, both modern and tap, basketball and riding are offered to the girls in place of their regular class in gymnastics or dancing.

Life Saving classes are held both Spring and Fall. At the end of each season examinations are given for the Senior Life Saving awards. In all twenty-one girls passed the test.

Fine and Applied Arts	16
Household Science and Arts	5

RIDING CLUB

There has been more interest shown than ever before in this sport, there being forty-four members from the different classes in both the Art and the H. S. & A. Schools. Contrary to the usual custom very few girls dropped out of the club during the year.

These equestriennes may be seen riding on Wednesdays and Thursdays at the Brooklyn Riding Club, and in Prospect Park. However, the club does not accept male members.

VOLLEY-BALL TEAM

The Dietitians were able to take the championship in this sport by beating the Art School by a score of 30 to 23 last fall. Efficient and capable coaching and earnest practice proved its value in the results of this year's games.

Volley-ball serves admirably in loosening up the girls for the more strenuous season to which they turn their attention when the volley-ball games end.

BASKETBALL TEAM

Basketball features strongly in making a well balanced schedule for the feminine members of the student body. This popular game is entered into with the zest and vim that typifies all the athletic endeavors of the Pratt girls.

Both the Art and H. S. & A. schools show ability along lines other than those taught in the red brick buildings across from the library.

The first year classes seemed to be in the lead, with Costume Design and Illustration I striding to victory. Last year Institutional Management carried the honors from the basketball court.

HOCKEY TEAM

The Senior Dietitians won the Hockey championship this year for the second consecutive time, and the Art II girls were the runners-up. The Dietitians in the past two years have proven that they are not only champions in the field of culinary arts, but also on the athletic field, less popularly known as the Pratt Bowl.

The hockey season is started by interclass games and is usually ended by the H. S. & A. School playing the Art School for the title.

REST HOUSE

MISS HALE

MRS. HATCH

Since health is now accepted as the first objective in modern education, progressive institutions like Pratt are giving more and more attention to its possibilities and maintenance. This interest in the health of Pratt students has led to the establishment of the Rest House on Vanderbilt Avenue.

Upon entering Pratt, every student's health record is required in order to correct and detect any physical disorder. Placement in activities is determined according to these reports. The nurses, Miss Hale and Miss Mustard, together with Dr. Moses and Dr. Anthony represent the medical staff at Pratt. All students who have any health problems are free to discuss them with Miss Hale in her office in the main building.

Students who are ill will receive adequate attention at the Rest House. As they enter they are ushered into Miss Hale's general office which is on the same floor as the surgical room and handles general cases. The second floor is devoted to the women's ward. Here we find clean, neat beds equipped with sliding trays for the comfort of the patient. A small library helps the convalescent to pass the time away pleasantly. On the third floor is a ward for men which is equally as well equipped as the one for women. The daily visits of the school doctor in the Rest House insures the welfare of the patient.

Thus, through the attention to the health of its students by means of a trained medical staff and a convalescent home, Pratt cares for the medical needs of its students.

In Memoriam

JOHN PETRINA

The Institute, and especially the Art School, have suffered an irreparable loss in the death of John Petrina, who died this summer at Evanston, Wyoming, following an automobile accident. As an artist he was a leader with a range of mediums seldom matched by his contemporaries.

We are thankful that he found time in his very active life to give his riches in the graphic arts. "Art Work—How Produced, How Reproduced" is a memorable contribution to the intimate literature of the profession. Yet gifted as he was in art, his greatest talent was his sincere, wholesome and enthusiastic friendship. To know him was to love him.

James Kurklian, born May 5, 1916, died October 11, 1935. A lad possessing a natural endowment of all the essentials for good character and sportsmanship, with the ability to accomplish all he began with his own personal style and finesse.

JAMES KURKLIAN

Edward Tuttle Stevens; October 11, 1914, April 2, 1936; beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Stevens, West Hampton Beach, L. I., New York.

Those of us who knew Ed. Stevens, envied him for his buoyant optimism, his courage, and his enthusiastic anticipation. We are assured that he faced Eternity with calm confidence.

Our sincere sympathy is respectfully offered to our friend's mother and father, sister and brother, and others in his family.

We shall miss his comradeship. The memory and the inspiration of his friendly and kindly example will live with us through the years.
